Herridge Called To Ottawa For Conference

Statement Expected On St. Lawrence Canal Negotiations

Waterway Proposals Reported Topic of Conversation Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to U.S., Will Have With Cabinet at Ottawa; U.S. Secretary of State Said Canada Was Lagging

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 6. — Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister at Washington, is on his way to Ottawa from the United States. With the return of Major Herridge the St. Lawrence waterway proposal may be under discussion.

For the present, however, no official comment is available on the suggestion of United States Secretary of State Stimson that Canada had been delaying in presenting its proposals toward treaty negotiations or on the objection of Premier L. A. Taschereau in the Quebec Legislature yesterday that the Dominion Government had proceeded in the matter without consulting that province.

Coast Hockey Loop Will Not Operate, Says F. Patrick

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—The Pacific Coast Hockey League will not operate this year, Frank Patrick, president of the professional loop, announced here to-day.

The league has operated for the last three years, first with Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and Victoria, and later with Tacoma replacing Victoria. Tacoma dropped out after the season started last year, leaving three teams.

Efforts were made this year to start a loop with Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton and Tacoma, but these have fallen through for various reasons.

PAPER URGES SANE FINANCE PLAN FOR B.C.

Government in Need of Financial Dictator, Says Province Editorial

Lack of Cohesion and Grasping Ward Heelers Blamed For Overspending

Lack of cohesion between different departments of the British Columbia Government and interference of "grasping ward heelers and village politicians" are responsible for part of the financial trouble which the government faces to-day, The Vancouver Daily Province charges in an editorial appearing yesterday.

Pointing out that taxation is already so high as to be burdensome, the editorial urges the establishment of a financial dictatorship that would be free from political pressure, suggesting a non-political cabinet committee or treasury board that will not spend money that is not earned. Only by prompt action along these lines, it is said, will Premier Tolmie silence public discussion on the subject of coalition government.'

The editorial follows:

"The provincial government very much requires the services of a financial dictator who will perform the simple, but difficult, job of balancing the budget.

"Recent misunderstandings between Ottawa and Victoria, which opened unemployment camps and then closed them, emphasize the need for a fundamental revision in our methods of financing. This is not to charge that the situation is critical to-day. The fact is that it can well be taken care of. But we are looking ahead to another six months or year of slackened income; and we believe that every British Columbian will agree that now is the time to abandon the old political viewpoint about public expenditures, to replace it with a reduction in overhead and an increase of efficiency such as characterizes every successful business enterprise in the country. No mercantile firm to-day that is awake to conditions will con-

Washington, Nov. 6.—E. C. Ritchie, test pilot of the Glenn L. Martin Company of Baltimore, was killed to-day when the Martin bomber he was testing at the Anacostia naval air station crashed from a height of 8,000 feet.

PARACHUTIST KILLED

GANGS STARTING WAR IN SUBURB OF CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 6—A new gang war for control of Cicero, a suburb of Chicago, was seen by police to-day in the slaying of Salvatore Loverde.

Loverde was found fatally wounded in a club in Cicero yesterday. He had been shot three times. The police said they believed he was a member of the Capone gang and added that they attached considerable significance to the fact that Loverde was slain the same day Ralph Capone joined his younger brother, Al, in the county jail here as an income tax dodger.

TWO DEATHS IN FIRE IN ONTARIO LAKE COTTAGE

Remains of Man and Woman Found in Ruins of Flimsy Building at Lake Simcoe

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 6. — The two charred bodies of a man and a woman were found in the remains of a fire-gutted cottage at Orchard Beach, Lake Simcoe, forty-five miles north of Toronto, early today. They were removed to Sutton, where an inquest will likely be held this evening.

No cause has been found for the blaze, nor has it been possible to identify the victims who perished in a mysterious way in the isolated cottage.

Three lives may have been taken, Coroner Dillane said.

Two pet dogs met death, locked in an adjoining woodshed.

FIRE DID NOT SPREAD

Police are at a loss to understand how the cottage, standing in the midst of a group of vacant summer houses, did not ignite the whole settlement.

The blaze was discovered by Coroner Dillane and the bodies were later recovered by a party of neighboring farmers, after the flames had subsided.

Soldiers and Sailors To Be Strong Force In Election In Esquimalt

Service Men Show Unusual Interest in Municipal Politics

Councillor Albert Heald Seeks Reeveship; Elrick and Lockley Remain Mute

Unusual interest of soldiers and sailors in the Esquimalt municipal election has been manifested by the heavy registration on the voters list. This morning, of the total number of householders listed, one half were from the Work Point and Naval Barracks. In previous years few men from the barracks here registered unless some subject of vital interest to factions prompted them to urge service men to register.

"If all the soldiers and sailors in Esquimalt were placed on the voters' list, as they can be, they could probably carry an election," stated Reeve James Elrick when approached on the matter to-day. Should another warship come in they certainly could determine the issue at the polls if they went in a united block, he said.

COULD CARRY ELECTION

The Reeve pointed out that majorities in Esquimalt seldom exceeded fifty. If the naval military men gave entire support to any one candidate, it would most probably assure his election.

Shortly after the list was opened one of the commissioned officers from Work Point applied for 200 registration forms. Owing to the fact that the supply was running low, he was only able to secure 100 at the time. By to-day over eighty soldiers and sailors had registered.

Italy Makes Great Reduction In Wheat Imports

Rome, Nov. 6.—A radical reduction in Italy's wheat imports as part of an effort to eliminate the adverse trade balance was reported to-day to Premier Mussolini.

October imports were 272,000 bushels as compared with 8,000,000 bushels a year ago. The four months total, including October, was about 4,000,000 bushels as compared with 70,000,000 bushels last year.

LEWIS MARKS, CLUB PRESIDENT, DIES SUDDENLY

Was Link With Earliest Pioneer Days; Known Widely in West

His Father and Sister Were Slain By Indians; Lived in Old Fort Victoria

Lewis Marks, district manager of Canadian Industries, formerly the Canadian Explosives, and for more than two generations known personally to thousands in the mining fields of British Columbia, Alaska and the Yukon, collapsed in his room at the Pacific Club at 11 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Douglas Graham and Dr. G. S. Kenning, who were on the same floor, examined him at once and found he had passed away as a result of heart failure. He was seventy-one years of age.

Mr. Marks was president of the Pacific Club and half an hour before he had been conversing in his room with Col. James Scroggie, secretary of the Pacific Club. He appeared quite normal. Later, however, when one of the club stewards, making his rounds, looked in the room, he found Mr. Marks sitting with his head thrown back. He called Col. Scroggie, who immediately brought the doctors in.

PRESIDENT FOR THIRD YEAR

News of the death of their president, spread gloom over the club members as they arrived at the luncheon hour. Mr. Marks had been president of the club for the last three years and had been a member of the club for more than thirty years, almost from its organization. At the expiration of his second term last year, he announced he would not stand for office again, but so popular had he been in office that the members refused to take a negative answer from him and they forced him to accept a third term.

Yesterday evening he had associated as usual in his cheery way with the members and had played a few hands of bridge. He retired about 11 o'clock.

OUTSTANDINGLY GENEROUS

"Members of the Pacific Club worshipped him," said Col. Scroggie this afternoon. "For the last few years his whole soul had been in the club, to make its life and operations pleasant for the members.

"He was the most generous of men, having put up an almost endless series of cups and prizes for various competitions. Only yesterday he put up the prize for the members' golf tournament which is to be held under Dr. M. J. Keys."

It was noticeable that Mr. Marks felt most keenly the death of J. S. H. Matson early in the week. The two had been close friends for years. Although Mr. Matson was not a member of the Pacific Club, Mr. Marks had a notice expressing the club's bereavement placed on the boards and had personally asked the members of the club to make up a large representation at the funeral.

Mr. Marks's life was a link with the very early pioneer days of this West Coast. Three years after he was born on May 5, 1860, in New York, he was brought to the Pacific Coast by his parents. They made their way from San

Group's Defence Heard At Trial In Toronto

Prosecution Completes Its Case at Hearing of Nine Alleged Communists and Tim Buck Goes on Stand.

Canadian Party

Toronto, Nov. 6.—"To members of the Communist Party of Canada, Sergeant Leopold was known as a devoted and faithful worker to the cause, one who was always ready to entertain our organizers, and one who always was prepared to help out financially. He was always willing to pay his own expenses to our conventions or meetings." With these words, Tim Buck, alleged leader of the Communist Party in Canada, told how Sergeant John Leopold of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, known in Communist circles as "Comrade E. W. Esselwain," had acted as secretary of the Regina, Sask., branch of the party for seven years.

Buck, with eight others, is on trial here on charges of being parties to a seditious conspiracy.

The prosecution concluded its case, opened on Monday, shortly before noon to-day, and Buck was the first witness called by the defence. The alleged leader of the party testified as to its formation here in 1921, at a time when "war hysteria" was still prevalent. In order to carry on the work among labor unions and similar bodies, a "so-called illegal party" had been formed. Eventually that party and

SOVIET EXPECTS WHEAT GAINS

Russians Anticipate Profit on Exports as Prices Continue to Rise

Moscow, Nov. 6.—North America's wheat boom has brought no official reaction here, but Soviet economists unquestionably accept news of price rises as holding out the possibility of higher prices in the future for sales of Russian grain abroad.

Wheat exports, one of Russia's chief sources of income, are expected to be nearly as large this year as last year.

Soviet officials denied earlier this week reports published abroad that Russian wheat exports were to be discontinued this year and next year. One authority said the increased domestic demand might reduce the exports to some extent, and that the exportable total probably would be cut by a drought which reduced the crop, but he asserted exports were not to be stopped by any means.

Starts Sentence Two Hours From Time Of Arrest

Lee Jim Happy at 9 o'Clock; Serving Term Before 11 o'Clock

The long arm of the law reached out this morning to gather in Lee Jim, Chinese, in quick time.

At 9 o'clock Lee was sitting in his bunk at cabin No. 33, Theatre Alley, calmly soliloquizing on the fates of his fathers.

At 11 o'clock Lee started to serve a term of nine months' imprisonment for unlawful possession of opium.

In the interval Police Inspector John T. Bolton and Constable J. Peterson had paid a visit to No. 33 Theatre Alley. They found ten decks of opium there.

Lee was brought to police headquarters, where the regular morning session of court was in progress. An information was sworn. He was charged, pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Magistrate George Jay to six months and a fine of $200, plus $2.50 costs, or in default an additional three months, which he took.

Actually, it was less than an hour and a half from the time the police visited Lee until the time he was sentenced. He hobbled into court with a walking stick.

Chinese Retreat Into Walled City When Japan Troops Occupy More Land

Gen. Mah's Force Now in Tsitsihar, Where Great Confusion Prevails; Japanese Report They Dealt Smashing Blow at Manchurian Army in Battle Lasting for Days; U.S. Note, Described as Protest Against Hostilities, Is Now Before Tokio Government

Canadian Press

Shanghai, China, Nov. 6.—Japanese reports received here to-day said General Mah Chan-Shan, the Chinese commander, had retreated into the walled city of Tsitsihar in Manchuria, and that the greatest confusion prevailed there.

The report said the general would resign as acting governor of Heliung-Kiang Province and that General Chan Hai-peng would succeed him.

Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 6—A renewed protest from this country against armed hostilities in war-clouded Manchuria lies before the Japanese government.

Its contents carefully guarded, the note was presented yesterday to Baron Shidehara, Japanese Foreign Minister, by Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes.

FRIENDLY MOVE

As have been other presentations of this government to prevent open war between China and Japan, the communication maintained this country's attitude of strict neutrality. In Tokio the government considered it a "friendly representation."

Despite this, however, no doubt was left of the United States government's belief that peace should be allowed to settle over the strife-torn regions of Manchuria where fighting has broken out anew in recent days.

The State Department has been concerned at the recent turn of events and officials have traced uneasily the march northward of Japan's troops.

BRIAND'S ATTITUDE

Dispatching of the note recalled to observers here that Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister and chairman of the League of Nations Council, only this week had called on Japan to withdraw its troops from Manchuria. He held Tokio's five demands on China as essential conditions for evacuation had been met.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has been silent as to this government's attitude toward Briand's action.

She has admitted, according to her friends, that her work in this life is finished, but firm believer that she is in reincarnation, she has asserted that "I shall return immediately in a Hindu body to continue the task of building a greater India."

Mrs. Besant has been ill ever since she fell on the marble stairway of the Theosophical Society headquarters at Adyar six months ago.

Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, has issued a call for the meeting which, it is expected, will be attended by approximately fifty-five Liberals from every province. As indicated in his recent speech at London, Mr. King regards organization as of great importance.

The National Liberal Organization Committee was formed in 1919. There is a vice-president and five members for each province.

The committee has not met for several years. Mr. King wants it to consider the present situation and decide on what action should be taken.

LEROY CHOSEN TO HEAD SLATE OF RATEPAYERS

Association's President to Be Mayoralty Candidate at Civic Election

Dr. J. D. Hunter in Aldermanic Field; W. H. Kinsman to Run Again

Frank Leroy, president of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, will be the organization's candidate for mayor at the December elections, it was learned unofficially to-day.

Out of four possible candidates nominated by the executive Mr. Leroy is to receive the association's support, it is understood.

The aldermanic candidates have not been chosen yet, although a number of names have been mentioned in this connection.

Mr. Leroy's entry in the field definitely assures a contest for the mayoralty with Eugene S. Woodward, already announced as an independent candidate. It is practically certain there will be other nominees.

The aldermanic list was increased to three with the announcement of W. H. Kinsman, who ran sixth in the list last year, that he will again seek the honor. Ex-Alderman John Harvey and Alderman Alex Peden are already in the running.

NEW ALDERMANIC CANDIDATE

Dr. J. D. Hunter will likely be a candidate for a council seat, it was stated to-day. He has been asked by friends and supporters to enter the contest. Dr. Hunter has been a resident of the city for more than forty years and is well known.

Labor candidates for council honors will be chosen next Monday night. The Independent Labor Party, at a meeting yesterday evening, decided not to make any nominations but will attend the mass meeting under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council on Monday when the selection of two aldermanic candidates will be made.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, asked by the Trades and Labor Council to reconsider his retirement, definitely refused yesterday evening to re-enter the field.

In the school board contest, Trustees Victor Emery and J. S. McMillan will stand again. Trustee McMillan is completing his fourth year on the board, and Trustee Emery his second.

Scientist's Electricity Discovery Gives Promise Of Unlimited Power

Associated Press

New York, Nov. 6.—A revolutionary electrical discovery announced as promising sufficient power to realize the theorists' dream of commercial transmutation of the elements is being brought before the American Institute of Physics.

With apparatus costing only $90, this discovery produce 1,500,000 volts of the same kind of electricity as lightning. It wil be built up to 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 volts immediately, and has ultimate possibilities of a 50,000,000-volt energy.

The discovery is an idea of a young scientist, R. J. Van de Graff, who graduated from the University of Alabama in 1922. He conceived it while working as a national research fellow at Oxford. With the aid of a National Research Council fellowship, he continued this work at Princeton, where he recently proved its practability.

ENERGY FROM ATOMS

He has joined the staff of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he hopes to develop sufficient power to disintegrate atoms.

This makes possible the investigation of methods for practical use of the energy liberated by the atoms at disintegration. It is an experiment in "unlocking of the energy of the atom."

KEEPING PUBLIC INFORMED

The 1,500,000-volt apparatus will be exhibited November 10 in New York to the American Institute of Physics, a new scientific organization under direction of Dr. Henry A. Barton, and backed by leading United States scientists. The institute proposed to keep the public informed on outstanding developments in physics.

IRISH FREE STATE INCOME TAX TO BE INCREASED

Dublin Irish Free State, Nov. 6.—The Dail to-day adopted a supplementary budget boosting the income tax to three shillings and sixpence to the pound, and doubling the present gasoline tax of fourpence a gallon.

Finance Minister Ernest Blyth introduced the budget to meet the £900,000 deficit for the current year.

He said the revenue from the duty on liquor would drop £6,700,000, due principally to decreased consumption.

FORMER LOAN HEAD CONVICTED

W. D. Comer Found Guilty in Seattle of Issuing False Statement of Assets

Associated Press

Seattle, Nov. 6.—W. D. Comer, sixty-three, former president of the Puget Sound Savings and Loan Association, was convicted by a superior court jury here to-day of issuing a false statement of the association's assets last December. The state contended the report was "off" about $1,000,000.

The jury was given the case at 6.30 yesterday evening and had deliberated about six hours when the court was informed of its decision.

The offence is punishable with not more than ten years in prison or not less than a $1,000 fine, or both, at the discretion of the judge.

The defendant pleaded he had nothing to do with preparation of the statement, and was utterly unaware of the truth or falsity of it.

Comer's was the fourth of a series of trials growing out of the institution's closing nine months ago with deposits of about $14,000,000.

Two other former presidents, Adolph F. Linden and E. W. Campbell, were convicted two weeks ago of grand larceny by embezzlement. In two other trials, in which Linden was the sole defendant, the juries disagreed.

HEARD VERDICT CALMLY

The grey-haired financier took the verdict calmly, sitting beside his attorney, Ewing D. Colvin, his face white but expressionless.

George Gaver, foreman of the jury of four women and eight men, said only two ballots had been taken. The first showed ten for conviction and two for acquittal, these cast by two women jurors.

INCREASE IN TOTAL OF CANADA'S EMPLOYMENT AIM OF MANUFACTURERS' PLANS

Council of Dominion-wide Association Meets in Montreal and Speeds Up Campaign

Canadian Press

Montreal, Nov. 6—Firm in the belief that if Canada is able to weather effectively the storm of depression and unemployment this winter, marked economic progress will be recorded by the middle of 1932, leading industrialists of the Dominion have pledged themselves to an intensive fight on behalf of the jobless. To the fore in the battle against unemployment will be a policy of "maintenance of employment," by which all industries, whenever possible, will maintain production and labor.

The decision was reached when the executive committee and the council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association met here yesterday. W. H. Miner of Granby, Que., president, headed the contingent.

Debate on Canada's economic and industrial outlook was continued all day, with four main decisions being made:

1. Canadian manufacturers will fight unemployment by maintaining industrial production wherever possible, and as many men as possible.

2. Services of manufacturers from coast to coast will be enlisted to work with the Dominion, provincial and municipal governments, in order to ensure the use of Canadian products and Canadian labor in all public works undertaken through the federal unemployment relief plan.

PUBLIC WORKS

3. Dominion and provincial governments will be asked to restrain the spending of money voted for unemployment relief on road building, and to use it mostly on public works, thus assuring skilled labor of employment.

4. Canadian manufacturers applaud the new Australian-Canadian trade treaty, and hope earnestly that a similar trade pact will be made with New Zealand, thus opening up potential markets for Canada ensuring labor of more work.

To ensure the use of Canadian products and Canadian labor throughout all fields of unemployment relief work in Canada, special subcommittees were formed representative of the five divisions—Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, Prairies and British Columbia—and the fifty-two branches of the association, to work with the federal, provincial and municipal governments and see that in every possible case the contractors be made to use products made in Canada and employ bona fide Canadian workers.

Francisco to Victoria and here the father decided there was a good field for sheep raising. He chose one of the Gulf Islands, not far from Sidney, and took his family there with him.

One day, when the father, accompanied by an elder sister, was on his way back to the island in a sloop, after having bought supplies in Victoria, he and his daughter were set on by a crew of wild Indians, who murdered the two. The young Lewis and his mother, left on the island ranch, were brought to Victoria, where for their first winter they were sheltered in old Fort Victoria.

From that time Lewis's home was in Victoria. The mother looked after him and was able to send him through the early schools here.

The young man's first steady job after school was with Marvin and Tilton, the pioneer Victoria hardware firm. Later, he became manager of this house. He built up such a reputation as a capable salesman that the late H. J. Scott, manager of the Coast branch of the Hamilton Powder Company, in 1894 persuaded him to join the staff of his company and sell powder in the mining and other development camps that were then springing up along the coast and throughout the province.

As a powder salesman Lewis covered a vast area, going as far north towards the Arctic Circle as there was white settlement and east to the Rockies. He became one of the best-known men on the western slope of this continent in the days which led up to the Klondike gold rush.

BUILD NEW PLANT

He continued in this sales capacity until the Great War, when the demand for explosives resulted in the Canadian Explosives, which had absorbed the Hamilton Power Company, launching its great new plant at James Island, near Sidney. Mr. Marks was made purchasing agent and it was he who bought all the equipment for the plant. In the latter part of the war, this great plant proved its usefulness, becoming one of the biggest producers of TNT and cordite on this continent.

After the war, Mr. Marks was made district sales manager for Victoria district for the company.

Many stories have been written about the experiences of Mr. Marks in the north and other outlying places. One of the incidents most charcteristic of his doggedness occurred during the construction of the White Pass and Yukon Railway. Mr. Marks was handling the orders for large quantities of powder used in construction work and he had to make trips ahead of the railway crews to estimate the quantities of explosives that would be required. On one of these trips during the winter, both his feet became frozen. He was brought out to Dawson by dog team. At Dawson the doctors who examined him told him that both his feet would have to be amputated at once, or the resulting gangrene in his limbs would cause his death. Mr. Marks's reply was to throw the two doctors down the stairs and call in a big, husky friend to act as nurse and keep the doctors from returning to amputate the feet. Mr. Marks recovered without any permanent injury to his feet.

Surviving Mr. Marks is his wife, at the family home, 135 Medina Street. She is a sister of William Cathcart of this city. Two half-sisters survive in Mrs. Whiteley, wife of Capt. J. J. Whitely of Saanich, and Mrs. E. R. Shipp. Mr. Mark's only son, Charles, died two years ago at Duncan.

FORECASTS END OF BRITISH EMPIRE

DEAN INGE

New York, Nov. 5.—A special wireless dispatch to The New York Times from London yesterday stated Dean Inge, of St. Paul's Cathedral, in a lecture on the fate of empires at University College of North Wales, in Bangor, said he believed the expansion of the British Empire has come to an end.

"The profligate expenditures of the Great War, followed by a kind of government I will not criticize, has reduced the richest nation of the world to the verge of bankruptcy and deep humiliation," the dean is quoted as saying. "Although I do not wish to take a pessimistic view altogether, I am afraid our part as a world power is approaching its end. We have been good enough with some luck to achieve a wonderful position in the world, but I am afraid we are not good enough to keep it."

Reported Soviet Dumping Cotton

London, Nov. 6.—A Reuter dispatch from Riga yesterday said Soviet trading representatives were arranging to dump a thousand truckloads of Turkestan cotton in the European market, storing it temporarily in Riga.

U.S. RENEWS PEACE EFFORT AFTER MANCHURIA FIGHT

JAPANESE BATTLE REPORT

Tokio, Nov. 6.—Japanese troops smashingly defeated a Chinese army in a three-day battle in Manchuria, and sent them flying northward in disorderly retreat, said dispatches from Mukden to-day to the Rengo News Agency here.

Reports said 130 Japanese were killed in the Nonni River bridgehead area in north central Manchuria in the battle which ended to-day, when Japanese reinforcements routed the Heilungkiang province army.

Japanese scouts reported the Chinese rearguard had passed a town three miles north of the Nonni River bridge an hour later.

BOMBED BY AIRMEN

Japanese airplanes rained bombs on the fleeing Chinese, throwing them into panic and increasing the disorder of their retreat.

The dispatch to the Rengo News Agency said three Japanese companies had borne the brunt of the severe fighting on the Nonni River which began Wednesday. The Chinese, with forces ten times as large, possessed cavalry and artillery.

The Chinese appeared to have suffered considerable losses.

JAPANESE FORCE 900

The War Office here asserted the Japanese force in the Nonni River area, including to-day's reinforcements, was about 900 men, including three batteries of artillery.

Renewed fighting between Chinese and Japanese troops near Tahsing, Manchuria, resulting in the collapse of the Chinese forces and their disorderly withdrawal toward Angangchi, was reported by the vernacular press here to-day.

It was near Tahsing the Japanese advance guard of 800 troops took up positions after the severe fighting with Chinese soldiers Wednesday night and Thursday at the Nonni River railroad bridge, which resulted in the withdrawal of the Chinese from the river span. Tahsing is near the Nonni bridge.

IN CONTROL OF AREA

Dispatches said to-day's fighting had left the Japanese in complete control of strategic points east and west of Tahsing after a battle which had lasted four or five hours.

Lieut.-General Jiro Tamon, commander of the second Japanese division at Changchun, Manchuria, started for the Nonni River, accompanied by his staff. General Tamon will command all troops in that section.

The Japanese War Office said that during the two days of fighting in that vicinity Japan had suffered more than 100 casualties.

COUNCIL TO MEET

Paris, Nov. 6.—A special meeting of the League of Nations' Council, to be held here November 17, was promised to-day, to attempt to ward off what was considered to be imminent danger of war between Japan and China in Manchuria.

The Council will be called together by Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, its chairman, and Premier Laval is also expected to lend his assistance.

The Premier alluded to the Sino-Japanese conflict in a speech at the American Club here yesterday, saying it was the duty of everybody to attempt to settle conflicts which the present world situation made more acute.

The decision to call the Council to meet here instead of at Geneva was made to enable M. Briand and the Premier to attend to their parliamentary duties at the same time.

NEW GOVERNMENT

London, Nov. 6.—A Reuter Agency dispatch from Tokio to-day said the Japanese Rengo News Agency had received a message from Mukden, Manchuria, saying Yuan Chin-kai, enemy of the Chinese Nationalist regime, had formally established a new government in the province of Mukden, independent of Gen. Hsush-liang.

JAPANESE DENIAL

Tokio, Nov. 6.—A Foreign Office spokesman to-day denied the authenticity of a document published abroad by newspapers which described it as a memorandum on plans for Japanese domination in the Pacific presented to the Emperor in 1927 by Baron Tanaka, then Premier.

He characterized it as a "patently blatant forgery," and said Chinese delegates at the 1929 meeting of the Institute of Pacific Relations had attempted to circulate the same "pernicious" document.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 6.—Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, Republican, died in a hospital here at 2.20 o'clock this morning as a result of complications following an operation for appendicitis.

done slack methods or antiquated management.

STRONG INDICTMENT

"We are blaming Victoria no more than Ottawa—certainly we have no complaint against any particular minister. But we should say that such a tangle as obtains to-day in the relief camp service is an extremely strong indictment of the present system of financial control.

"What have the taxpayers got in return for $3,500,000 spent in eight weeks erecting these scores of camps, with work practically discontinued because Ottawa regards the scheme developed here as far too extravagant? The public should give the ministers credit for every honest intention and much hard work, but lack of cohesion between different departments of government is responsible for part of the trouble; and unpleasant reports reach us of hasty purchase of equipment, of small losses here and larger ones somewhere else by the interference of grasping ward heelers and village politicians throughout the province. The result, a total bill of rather amazing proportions, ran up so rapidly that Ottawa demands a fifty per cent downward revision of the whole plan. Public Works Minister Bruhn joined Finance Minister Jones in Ottawa yesterday to plead for a more generous deal and we sincerely hope they win out in their arguments.

"How can we escape this dilemma? We should think that, broadly, the cause of the trouble is the absence of a centralized financial authority in the government whose sole business it is to pass upon every spending programme with the idea of making certain that the final bills shall not exceed the appropriations. One hears of a government where no deputy minister can retain his job if his department fails to stay within prescribed limits. In Victoria they might do worse than name a committee of deputy ministers to sit on the lid. These officials would presumably be free from political pressure, and such freedom is the chief desideratum.

"We have said that British Columbia is in a bit of a dilemma. We do not wish to see its position develop into a crisis a year from now because public expenditures have not been sanely held down. This province has been borrowing freely for new works. Our budget has been exceeding our tax income. Borrowing is becoming harder, costlier each year. Our job—politician and public—is to eliminate our deficits. Taxes are already so high as to be burdensome. The one solution is to save, to revise heavy-spending social services that have run miles beyond the original intention, to reduce drastically overloaded departments like that of agriculture, to establish a non-political cabinet committee or treasury board "from Missouri"—that, come what may, will not spent money that is not earned. Only by prompt action somewhere along these lines will Premier Tolmie silence the public discussion that one already hears on the subject of coalition government."

SCIENTIST'S ELECTRICITY DISCOVERY PROMISES UNLIMITED POWER

The first small exhibition model of Van de Graff's machine exceeds the power of nearly all American X-ray outfits. Its spectacular parts are merely some five and ten cent store silk ribbon and two metal spheres, no larger than bushel baskets. These are used to keep up the power from a comparatively small electrical generator.

ENDLESS BELTS

The ribbons are made into two endless belts and the whole set-up is much like a pair of wells, side by side. The top of each well is enclosed by one of the metal spheres.

These endless ribbon belts come up through holes in the bottoms of the spheres like endless chains bringing up water in old-fashioned wells.

Instead of water, the belts carry electricity. They get it from the generator, drawing it off on their surface from brushes. One ribbon carries upward positive charges and the other negatives.

SEEN AS FLASH

Inside the spheres these electrical charges are drawn off from the ribbons by other brushes and transferred by wires to the metal spheres. There on the outside of the globes, the growing charges gather. One sphere builds up a positive charge and the other negative, until at 1,500,000 volts they discharge in a lightning flash between the two globes.

The experiments indicate the voltages are limited only by the size of the spheres. For the 15,000,000 to 20,000,000-volt experiments by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology it is proposed to build spheres each fifteen feet in diameter.

TORONTO ASSIGNMENT

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Reporting liabilities amounting to $283,991, Fairweathers Ltd., Toronto merchants, have made an authorized assignment for the benefit of their creditors. P. C. Clarkson has been appointed custodian of the company's estate.

TWO MEN SENTENCED

Kelowna, B.C., Nov. 6.—George MacDonald of Vancouver, and Claude McLean of Nova Scotia, were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and fourteen months at Oakalla Prison Farm, respectively, for being in possession of stolen goods. The case arose out of recent robberies at Westbank and Okanagan Mission, in which safes were blown and post offices and general stores robbed. The goods found in possession of the accused were proved to have come from those places.

GROUP'S DEFENCE HEARD AT TRIAL IN TORONTO

the "legal" or Workers' Party were merged.

DENIES FORCE ADVOCATED

He had just reached evidence concerning the operations of Sergt. Leopold, and had told how the Mounted policeman had risen rapidly in the councils of the party when the noon adjournment was reached. But prior to that, he had stated the Communist Party was working for the benefit of the working class. It had never advocated nor insinuated that the masses should use force or violence in furthering their aims, but he tried to cause strikes in protest against the impositions of the "bourgeoisie" against the working class, he said.

MANY PAPERS FILED

The case of the prosecution was closed with the filing of many documents linking Moscow and the group in Canada. A long thesis on communism, written by E. Vassiliev of Moscow, was read in part. Extracts explained to the Communist Party the means which should be adopted in order to maintain the secrecy of communications. Onion juice and water were recommended for use as invisible ink.

Vassiliev also declared proletarian "self-defence" should be organized.

Buck was scheduled to return to the stand this afternoon.

Those charged are Buck, Tom Ewen, John Boychuk, Amos T. Hill, Malcolm L. Bruce, Samuel Cohen, Mathew Popovitch, Mike Golinski and Thomas Cacie.

BORN IN ENGLAN

When Tim Buck was called to the stand he said he was born in England and came here in 1911. He had first become connected with Communism in 1921. The Communist Party during 1921-1924 had done nothing. The "underground" was merely a caucus of older members of the workers. From 1924 the party had taken part in elections. In 1923 members of the party were elected to the Alberta and Nova Scotian Legislatures, he said. They contested Ontario seats in 1924.

The aim of the party had been the organization of the working class for political action.

He went on to explain how the party had gone into the organization of industrial unions.

LOOK FOR UNIONS' SUPPORT

The Communist activities were intended to win the support of all craft organizations, he said. In Alberta the miners had voted in favor of industrial unions. They left the American Federation of Labor, and after a referendum, had gone to the Workers' Unity League.

"We try very hard to develop strikes," he said, "as a means of furthering the cause of the workers." But, he continued, they had never advocated nor insinuated that force or violence should be used to further these aims. The party had fought hard against sabotage.

EVIDENCE ON LINKS

When the hearing was resumed this morning the prosecution continued its efforts to link the Canadian Communist Party with the Communist International at Moscow.

Yesterday the crown submitted a mass of documentary evidence intended to prove the international connections between Canada and Moscow.

Norman Somerville, K.C., and Joseph Sedgwick of the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, offered the evidence for the prosecution, with Hugh John MacDonald acting for the accused.

The first exhibit to-day was the report of the fifth congress of the Communist International at Moscow, which showed Tim Buck as attending. A copy of a speech allegedly made there by Buck was also shown. That congress was held some years ago.

AGRARIAN PROGRAMME

A copy of the programme of the Communist International found in headquarters of the local party was next submitted. A document called "Draft Agrarian Programme of the Communist Party of Canada, submitted by Leslie Morris and J. M. Clark," was next. It was an "outline of the programme of development among the farmers of Canada."

A letter found at Tim Buck's home, sent by the Presentintarn at Moscow, criticized the "Draft Agrarian Programme." It said certain parts of the programme were quite incorrect. "There must be no confusion of revolutionary reform," the letter said.

The property of wealthy farmers should be seized and a workers'-farmers' government should be established, it said. There should be mass refusal to pay taxes, rents and other debts. Resistance to the forced collection of debts should be organized. Strikes and demonstrations were to be held. Self defence by farmers, mass resistance against war, and organization of farmer-delegates to the United Socialist states of Russia were all advocated in the document.

NEW STEPS

A meeting of the political bureau of the Canadian Party held here February 3, 1931, dealt with agrarian work, minutes indicated. The meeting had accepted the criticisms of the Moscow organization, and declared the Communist Party must take steps to overcome the "petty bourgeois principles" of the farmers.

The Canadian Labor Defence League and friends of the Soviet Union were valuable organizations, the same document said. A meeting of the political bureau was held in November, 1930, with J. M. Clark acting as secretary. A resolution called for agrarian conferences in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatchewan and Edmonton in the following month. It was suggested Communist members join the United Farmers with a view to the disintegration of that body. It asked also for support for The Furrlow, the Communist farm journal, and declared steps should be taken toward the formation of a young farmers' body.

Finnish and Ukrainian farmers should be organized and mobilized into a "left wing" conference, it said. Buck had moved at the meeting that a cable be sent to "Smith" (Stewart Smith, formerly of Toronto) at Moscow, asking certain material be sent before the "left wing" meeting was held.

RESOLUTION READ

A resolution stating the Workers' Unity League was the basis of all revolutionary trade unions was read into the records. A letter from Smith at Moscow to Buck was introduced. It spoke of resolutions of the Communist International and was marked "strictly confidential." It marked certain sections of resolutions which, when interpreted by certain sections of the workers, would mean the Communists were trying to get control of the workers' organizations. Minutes of the secretarial of April, 1931, showed the party controlled a print shop in the Ukrainian Farm Labor Temple Association at Winnipeg.

Mr. MacDonald objected to the admission of this evidence. The objection was not sustained.

Mr. Justice Wright then objected to the mass of evidence, "which is obscuring the issue." The connection between Canada and Moscow had been shown in exhibits yesterday and to-day and there seemed no necessity for reiteration.

Pamphlets seized at The Worker office, similar to others seized at Communist headquarters, were next brought in. They were copies of a thesis by "Vasseliev." The document said party leaders who were not capable of responding to the demands of the class struggle should be replaced. The party press should not publish the real names of comrades, but rather should use distorted photographs or names so that the police would not be assisted in identification of party members.

MUCH TALK

Another extract read: "One of the members of the committee should undertake the duty of the organization of proletarian self-defence. This is now beyond all doubt essential. There is a great deal of talk about proletarian self-defence, and if all these conversations were brought together they might annihilate the Bourgeoisie by their sheer weight, but the practical results are not worth a halfpenny. . . .

"It must become a rule that every party committee appoint a special comrade to take charge of this work. This comrade, by the way, must definitely arrange special training for members of the organization of proletarian self-defence, in order that the organizations may be real self-defence organizations. The practice of the proletarian self-defence detachments during recent demonstrations shows the comrades from the sections of self-defence do not have the slightest conception of any kind of self-defence. When the police attacked them they did not know how to resist. They don't understand the tactics of street fighting—don't even know how to box—and as a result in certain cases one policeman broke up dozens of sections of proletarian self-defence because our comrades waved their arms about aimlessly while the policemen were quite confident and used all the rules of well-trained boxers. In many cases the comrades from the proletarian self-defence units defended themselves with stones. But, again, there is evidence from those who were present at these operations showing that our comrades do not know how to throw stones. It is not enough to pick up a stone and throw it, but it is important that that stone should hit its target, and not merely hit its target, but that some effect should be seen from the blow.

AT TWENTY-FIVE PACES

"But so long as our comrades don't go through any training in throwing stones they naturally throw stones more for the moral effect. But if meanwhile members of proletarian self-defence organizations systematically train themselves in throwing stones and set themselves the aim, let us say, of each evening when they finish work and each morning, instead of going through gymnastic exercises, throwing stones at a target twenty-five paces away, we can say beforehand that in two weeks the result of such a training in any attack may be quite different."

From the same document Mr. Somerville went on to read a chapter on "methods of communication" and connections with higher and lower party organizations. Mass demonstrations were impossible if the connections between the high and low sections were broken, it said. Special routes must be used for letters to avoid their being intercepted.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS TO BE STRONG FORCE IN ELECTION IN ESQUIMALT

According to legislation, men with the military and naval forces in Esquimalt, who reside at the barracks in that district and have lived there since the beginning of the year, may be registered on the voters list, providing they are over twenty-one years of age.

Councillor Albert Heald, for many years a member of the governing body of the municipality, this morning definitely announced he would stand for the reeveship. Reeve James Elrick declined to make a definite statement and nothing has been heard from Councillor Alex. Lockley, who has been mentioned as a candidate.

Captain S. R. Bowden will seek re-election to the police commission. No outside candidate has been heard from for this post.

Major J. A. P. Crompton, former councillor and present school trustee, is as yet undecided as to what stand he will take. If he does not attempt to regain a seat on the council, he will seek re-election to the School Board. Mrs. James Isbister, whose term also expires this year, is definitely out of the running owing to ill health.

Councillors Charles A. Smith and Thomas Hadfield will seek return to the council, while, with Councillor Heald seeking the reeveship, a place will be left vacant for a new man on the board.

FIVE MEN OF U.S. NAVY SHIPS ARE KILLED

Four Sailors and Plane Squadron Commander Victims Off California Coast

Associated Press

San Pedro, Calif., Nov. 6.—A five-inch anti-aircraft gun of the battleship Colorado exploded late yesterday, killing one officer and three seamen and injuring nine others, four possibly fatally.

Shortly afterward, aboard the battleship Maryland, a petty officer was crushed in the mechanism of another anti-aircraft gun and injured so badly that to-day he was not expected to survive.

The two accidents occurred as the dreadnoughts were near Santa Rosa Island, a few miles off Santa Barbara, repulsing a mythical enemy air force attack.

The accident aboard the Colorado was one of the worst in the United States navy peace times since the disastrous explosion in a gun turret aboard the battleship Mississippi off the local harbor in 1924, when forty-eight lives were lost.

Lieut. Ralph F. Bradford Jr., Pontiac, Ill.

Maurice G. Hawkins, seaman, first class, Hastings, Mich.

J. J. Schnur, seaman, first class, St. Louis, Mo.

Possibly fatally injured are:

Lieut. Winston I. Quattlebaum of Kentucky, who entered the service from Texas.

Ensign John B. Huntley, appointed to Annapolis from Ohio.

R. C. Duff, seaman of the first class.

G. E. Swift, seaman of the first class.

Others injured, all seamen of the first class, are: H. J. Minton, J. R. Kowalski, C. V. Stover, H. E. Lutz and W. J. Duval.

Schnur was attached to the Oklahoma, but had been detailed as an observer to make the trip with the two dreadnoughts.

The man critically injured aboard the Maryland is J. J. Plummer, gun captain.

AIRMAN LOSES LIFE

Still another fatality was suffered by the Pacific Coast naval forces earlier in the day when Lieut.-Com. Oscar William Erickson, thirty-five, commander of a pursuit squadron on the aircraft carrier Saratoga, died after his plane had plunged over the side of the ship as he was attempting a landing.

COMMUNIST HEADS OPPOSE JAPANESE IN MANCHURIA

Associated Press

Moscow, Nov. 6.—An appeal to its members to support "the Chinese proletariat" against Japanese occupation of Manchuria and a warning that war against China is "a step toward war against Soviet Russia," was issued to-day by the executive directorate of the International Communist Party.

The appeal was made on the occasion of the celebration to-day of the fourteenth anniversary of the revolution in Russia.

"The leaders of all the capitalistic countries," the statement said, "are wandering about, searching for an outlet and afraid of complete bankruptcy before the mounting swell of the proletarian revolution. The class fight is becoming more acute. The Imperialists have already begun war in the east in the hope of attaining this outlet."

NATIONALISM IN EUROPE IS MENACE, DECLARES M.P.

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—Intense nationalism in Europe is a barrier to the return of world prosperity, said Michael Luchkovich, M.P. for Vegreville, Alta., in an interview here yesterday following his return from Bucharest, Roumania, where he attended the Inter-Parliamentary Union Congress as official Canadian delegate.

The sessions of the congress, he said, dealt mostly with agricultural and economic problems, and during the meeting the delegates were the guests of King Carol of Roumania. The King, Mr. Luchkovich said, expressed surprise he was the only representative of the British Empire. He had explained that two of the three Canadian delegates had to attend a postal conference in Paris, and Great Britain was too busy with its election to send a representative.

"I found in Europe," said Mr. Luchkovich, "a lot of greedy little nations who have stolen big slices of somebody else's territory and who now have to maintain huge armies to hold their ill-gotten gains. These armies are impoverishing Europe."

TWO CAPONES IN CHICAGO JAIL

Ralph Is Expected to Be in Leavenworth, Kansas, Prison To-morrow

Associated Press

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Brothers Ralph and Al, the two Leavenworth-bound Capones, were in the same jail here this morning.

Ralph surrendered yesterday afternoon to begin serving his three-year penitentiary term for violating United States income tax laws.

"Scarface Al," the younger and the more notorious, has spent twelve days in the jail with his attorneys deciding whether he shall remain there or begin serving an eleven-year sentence at Leavenworth, Kansas, for a similar breach against the government.

Like brother Al, whose smile was changed to a scowl by the weight of his sentence and the $50,000 fine, Ralph snarled and cursed as the barred gates of the jail clanged behind him.

He yelled oaths at photographers and called on jail authorities to throw them out.

The United States marshal's office stated that Ralph, who was a lieutenant in "Scarface Al's" gang, would be started under guard at 6 p.m. to-day for Leavenworth. The United States Supreme Court refused to reverse his conviction.

Ralph and several other federal prisoners are expected to arrive at the prison to-morrow morning.

U.S. Farmers Gain $125,000,000 By Market Advance

Chicago, Nov. 6.— Nat Murray, quoted by The Chicago Tribune as a veteran crop expert, declared at least $125,000,000 had been added to the value of grain which farmers in the United States held for market by the recent advances in prices.

This estimate, Murray said, was on grain the farmers hold, and will market in that form, and does not include the increased income from greens converted into live stock, dairy and produce which the farmers will also market at increased prices.

"Based on reports from crop reporters," Murray said; "I find farmers held 2,550,000,000 bushels of corn November 1. This estimate considers that 5½ per cent of the new crop had been feed by that date, and that farmers were holding 75,000,000 bushels of old corn. It is safe to estimate that 500,000,000 bushels of corn will be marketed as grain by farmers.

"At the close of yesterday's market with May wheat at 69⅝ cents and December corn at 44½ cents, in spite of the heavy profit-taking by speculators, the farmer has actually gained $60,000,000 on his stored wheat, $50,000,000 on the corn he will sell as grain and $15,000,000 on the oats to be marketed for cash. This totals a gain of $125,00,000 to farm incomes in less than thirty days."

Every rise of one cent per bushel to the wheat and corn prices adds more than $10,000,000 to the value of these grains in farmers' hands, Murray added.

Chief of General Staff Addresses Ottawa Club

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Canada's need is not for a large military force of any kind, but for the nucleus of a large force around which the defence resources of the nation can be developed in emergency, Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, chief of the general staff, said here yesterday, addressing the University Club. "It is important to realize our present task is not the creation of an army, but the maintenance of the possibility of creating one on reasonable notice," Gen. McNaughton declared.

"Our real objective has been to develop our citizen militia other than as an aggressive, militaristic force, serving our country in peace, ready for trouble, though not looking for trouble."

The actual strength of the Canadian non-permanent active militia was 51,000, all ranks, he said. Of this number 33,000 had been given an average of twelve days' training last year. Through courses of instruction 7,100 officers and other ranks had been assigned and received appropriate qualifications.

"BOOTLEG" LOANS TO BE CURBED

New York, Nov. 6. — Members of the New York Clearing House, representing the principal Wall Street banks, to-day took decisive action to remedy the "other loan" situation, which has been widely regarded as a prominent factor in the stock market excesses of 1929.

Members of the clearing house voted that they should no longer place call loans in the stock market for "others," which means, primarily, for individuals and corporations. This will tend to restrict the sources of funds for the stock market largely to the banks.

Australia's Trade Policy Is Stated

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Camberra, Australia, Nov. 6.—Premier Scullin to-day defined the federal government's policy regarding intra-empire trade as "firstly to encourage Australian manufactures, and, secondly, to give British industry the lion's share of the import trade."

The Equity Court has decided the will was unjust.

THREE OIL MEN FACING TRIAL

Los Angeles, Nov. 6. — The president, chairman and a vice-president of the defunct Richfield Oil Company were indicted late yesterday by the county grand jury here after several weeks of investigation of the concern's collapse several months ago with a three-year operating deficit of $54,219,091.25.

Those indicted are: C. M. Fuller, president; J. A. Talbot, chairman of the board of directors, and R. W. McKee, vice-president and assistant to Talbot.

The five indictments variously charge grand theft, violation of the Corporate Securities Act and conspiracy, but it was not disclosed how each defendant was named individually.

NEW SASKATOON HOTEL HAS FIRE

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 6. — Firemen of Saskatoon yesterday afternoon were called on to fight the "highest" blaze in the history of the city when the roof of the Bessbrough Hotel of the C.N.R., now under construction, caught fire. The blaze was caused by red hot metal from an acetylene torch falling between the linings of an attic wall. The firemen fought the flames for nearly half an hour, but damage was light, being placed at $250 by the contractor in charge of the building.

THE WARNING OF GENERAL SMUTS

IT IS TO BE HOPED THE PUBLIC WILL be present in force this evening at the City Temple to hear Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., discuss world disarmament. She has come to this city under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the League of Nations Society in Canada. Miss MacPhail already has the distinction of having been a delegate to the Assembly of the League at Geneva, and her active interest in the peace movement has taken her to many parts of the Dominion. She is an excellent speaker, possessing the faculty of marshalling her arguments forcefully.

Miss MacPhail's message to the numerous audiences she has been addressing recently is in line with the general demand the world over that the present stock of the implements of war shall be very substantially curtailed by international agreement, because as long as they are available there is a danger of them being used, with the frightful cost of life and treasure which war involves. The condition of the world to-day, moreover, is a glaring example of the utter futility of war. Instead of settling anything, it has completely unsettled everything. But what if there should be another war on a major scale? What would it be like? Recently, at Sheffield University, General Smuts, the South African statesman and soldier, and one of the greatest figures in the empire, painted a picture of what another world conflict would be like. He said:

> In the world war we saw only the beginning of the vast difference which science is making in human affairs. In the next great war, if that is ever allowed to occur, science will, like some angry, outraged deity, go far to destroy mankind itself.
> It will pay scant attention to armies and navies or to the other paraphernalia of war. It will go straight for the populations and for the immense urban aggregations which will be its sure target. It will fight with new unheard-of chemical and biological weapons. It will cover the fair land and the great cities with poison and disease germs. It will saturate vast areas with a deadly atmosphere.
> There will be no escape, not even for statesmen and the war-makers, and a pall of death will rest over all. Even now the laboratories of three continents are busy with their deadly researches. And in due course some lunatic or criminal will press the button and the flower of the human race will be trapped and destroyed.

This was no attempt by General Smuts to make the flesh of his audience creep. Announcements from time to time have been made of the discovery in the laboratories of the world of many new means of spreading death and destruction of the most horrible form. He has not over-painted the picture. And he very properly contends that escape from this cataclysm lies only along the arduous path of disarmament, that the problem of peace must be the key problem of our civilization and the final test of all national and international policies. Happily for the world, there is a profound change in the international temper since the "Prussianism" of pre-war days; and peace, General Smuts observes, as an institution organized in the League of Nations, has made surprising progress during the last decade. He admits, of course, that disarmament is beyond doubt the greatest and heaviest task before the League, and he warns that if next year's conference should fail, the whole international situation, which has been rising since the peace, would receive a set-back.

General Smuts concluded his address by declaring that the success of the disarmament movement was not necessarily dependent upon drastic immediate reductions. What was vital, however, was that there should be a definite halt to further armaments. With that much accomplished, the most important step would have been taken. Since General Smuts spoke at Sheffield, of course, nearly forty nations have agreed to the proposal that there shall be at least a year's naval building holiday. While there is nothing binding in this resolve, the acceptance of the moral obligation by so many governments is a hopeful sign.

A TEMPORARY CONDITION

THIS COUNTRY'S TRADING WITH the United States in the last nine months revealed an adverse balance of $111,000,000, compared with $202,000,000 in the corresponding period of last year. The value of Canada's purchases amounted to $316,000,000 and her sales amounted to $205,000,000. The nine-month period in 1930 showed imports valued at $524,000,000 and exports at $322,000,000.

The average person with a business mind will get very little satisfaction from the figures we have compared. It will be admitted, of course, that the ideal trading arrangement is one in which buying and selling fairly well balance one another. There are, however, several angles to this approach to a balance in trade with the United States which sometimes are forgotten. There is the very significant fact that while in the nine-month period of 1930 Canada sold goods worth $322,000,000 to her southern neighbor, she sold only $205,000,000 worth in the corresponding period of this year; and it follows, of course, that if the value of her imports for the nine-month period of 1930 exceeded the value of her purchases for the corresponding nine months of this year by a little more than $200,000,000, her people were that much more prosperous.

Another point to be borne in mind is that the goods Canada brings in and sends out are not wafted through the air by some magic agency; they are carried in railway cars and in steamships. This drop of $325,000,000 in the value of our business with the neighboring republic is responsible for not a little of Canada's unemployment and the reduced demand for the services of the two railway companies.

What the average businessman sees in the figures for the nine-month period of this year needs little emphasis. He knows that whereas Canada's trading account with the United States for the fiscal year ending with March 31, 1930, reached the total of $1,365,000,000, the present fiscal year, on the basis of the first nine months of the calendar year, will be considerably less than half that turnover.

This reduction in the balance, incidentally, is not a new condition. It is a symptom of the present economic situation. For the fiscal year of 1925, for example, with a trading account of $925,000,000—considerably larger than this year's business—the adverse balance was only $91,000,000, and in the following year, with a turnover of nearly $1,200,000,000, the republic held the advantage by $133,000,000.

POPPY DAY TO-MORROW

VETERANS AND CITIZENS OF THIS community, through the medium of the poppy, to-morrow will pay their annual tribute to the memory of the empire's dead. These small, red symbols are made in the Red Cross workshop in Victoria by twelve seriously disabled men who find constant employment in turning out sufficient of them to meet the requirements of the whole province. Partial failure in the sale of wreaths, however, has created a serious situation for the poppy-makers, whose employment may be curtailed or even discontinued next year unless the response to-morrow shall be a very liberal one. It will be understood, of course, that the profits from sales of these replicas of the poppies of Flanders Fields are used exclusively to meet cases of distress among veterans and their dependents. The Armistice Period Committee, under whose auspices the campaign is conducted, distributed $6,402 for relief last year among 360 veterans who, with their dependents, represented about one thousand people. The fund from which this money was taken now is exhausted. Hence the necessity for generous contributions to-morrow.

A "SAFE" CABINET

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD HAS CONstructed his cabinet with the skill of an experienced craftsman. He has paid more regard to ability than to political affiliation. It was only to be expected, of course, that to the Conservative party would go the largest number of portfolios; but Mr. MacDonald has selected "safe" men from Mr. Baldwin's following as well as from the other parties. The boat-rockers are conspicuous by their absence. The ministry looks like one that will not be stampeded into fantastic tariff policies, even though it may experiment with some form of moderate protection as an emergency measure. No doubt certain interests, notably the Beaverbrook-Rothermere element, will open fire on it without delay.

Particular interest centres in the Prime Minister's choice of Mr. Neville Chamberlain for the post of Chancellor of the Exchequer. He is not such an imposing figure as his brother Sir Austen; but he is given credit for greater business ability, and if there ever was a time in Britain's history when sound business methods were necessary, that time is now. The very fact that he is a Chamberlain suggests his belief in tariff protection; but he recognizes, as do the moderate Conservative newspapers of Great Britain, that last week's verdict was not a mandate for any radical change in the country's fiscal policy. The Manchester Guardian and The London News-Chronicle, two Free Trade last-ditchers, naturally have observed the campaign that is going on behind the lines, and they are warning the country against the "relentless pressure of fanatical protectionists" which is not supported by a convincing case. The Financial News—always moderate and sensitive of its power as a financial journal—says the depreciation of sterling which must result from increased importations will automatically help to balance the country's adverse trade balance without drastic emergency tariff measures. The London Times has struck a middle course. It points out the difference between a "scientific general tariff," which it says is irrelevant to the immediate "dumping" problem, because it may take years to adjust. It wants something done to check the imports of "luxuries" and the commodities that might well be produced in Britain; but insists that "tariffs must be justified as a means toward facilitating international trade, not as a means for putting new obstructions in the paths of commerce."

Mr. Chamberlain will be reminded from many sources that it was his father who laid the proposal for tariff reform before the people of Great Britain at the beginning of the present century. But he knows what happened in 1906 and again in 1923. Conditions to-day, of course, do not present a parallel by any means. Yet the fact stands out glaringly that the country's commercial life depends upon her visible and invisible exports. Ships that sail from British ports full of merchandise will not pay in a one-way trade. They will have to bring goods back with them. It is that buying and selling, without restriction, which made Britain commercially great. As The London Times says, this is not a time for putting new obstructions in the paths of commerce.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TO SPEND OR NOT TO SPEND

The Saskatoon Phoenix-Star

To spend or not to spend is the question about which the average Canadian citizen is hearing most these days. One group of economists urges him to buy while prices are low, to spend his money not wastefully but carefully although freely. Another group of the same gentlemen advises him to save every dollar he can, that thrift is the watchword by which prosperity will be restored and that the accumulated savings of the whole will start and keep the wheels of industry turning. On this question The Toronto Star says:

"It is not easy to know what to do when expert advice is so conflicting. The savings deposits of the Canadian people increase by millions each month. Ordnarily this would be all right and greatly to the good, because money in savings deposit isn't money withdrawn from circulation. It is the money of the multitude placed in small amounts at centres where the total of it aggregates a great deal, and is available for use in large and profitable enterprises. It is not idle money. It is at work, and it earns more than is paid to the modest depositor. His little deposit cannot do much, but 10,000 deposits like his form a lump of capital which can accomplish something.

"The difficulty at present is that the savings deposits grow larger and larger and the enterprises which should be using this capital do not seem to be using it. There ought to be a freer lending of money to competent business men entering upon promising undertakings."

The average citizen listening to both sides no doubt will buy what he needs when he needs it providing he has the money wherewith to buy. And in any case those who have refrained from buying since the depression started are arriving at the time when replacements are becoming necessary. While it cannot be positively stated that commodity prices have definitely and permanently turned upward there are indications that such is the case. If so, buying now will be more profitable than buying a few months hence.

Loose Ends

The youth of America is saved from a ghastly threat—a new independence is achieved—woolen ones are best, after all—and they go to the dogs up the Island.

By H. B. W.

A FEW DAYS ago a firm of New York publishers published a book for children. What happened to it is extremely revealing to students of civilization. Now this book was made up of pictures of a little boy and a little girl and showed a complete record of their day, from their rising to their going to bed. The last picture showed the two children, Peter and Peggy, kneeling and saying their prayers. You would have thought that picture could offend nobody, but then, you are probably old-fashioned. You have not kept up with the higher enlightenment of these times.

* * *

NO SOONER had the book appeared than the publishers were deluged with protests from modern mothers against this introduction of religion. As Mrs. Catherine Maltby Blaisdell, wife of a professor at Columbia University, explained: "A great many children to-day are brought up without ever hearing of God and religion. Mine are among them. To introduce a small child to the idea of an omnipotent Father may easily rob him of his self-dependence. He may form the habit of leaning on some person or power instead of growing up in the belief that he alone must meet and solve his problems as they arise. One might jeopardize the whole future happiness of a child by telling him that he is accountable to God for what he does and not to his own conscience."

* * *

THAT WOULD mean nothing coming only from a professor's wife. But it came from so many American mothers, so many of them were afraid that their children might be corrupted by religion, that the publishers in despair had to delete the picture of Peter and Peggy saying their prayers.

* * *

THUS THE children of America are saved from any possibility of contamination by contact with Faith. How gratifying this will be to modern parents! How gratifying to know that their children will be independent, that they will not be weaklings like their grandfathers, who depended so helplessly on God Almighty that they had no time for anything worthwhile and merely built the greatness of this continent. But great as is our progress, it is well to remember that, by a curious coincidence, this faithless generation, while it may not consider itself dependent on God Almighty, is still the most dependent, the most helpless, the most impotent generation of all history. The average man may not look for supernatural help, but he is dependent on his machines, on his neighbors, on his governments, even on his recent enemies in warfare. He cannot provide his own food, his own clothing or his own fire. He cannot even provide his own ideas, but must take them from the movies, the magazines or even from me.

* * *

AMERICAN MOTHERS and fathers may imagine that they are independent because they have thrust religion out of their homes and protected their children from it, but the only really independent person is one who lives in the wilds, on his own resources. And the world over, strangely enough, such people are invariably religious, whether they are Christians or cannibals. The search for independence is indeed discouraging.

* * *

ALMOST EVERY day I am brought up suddenly, with a round turn, by some new evidence of the superior intelligence of this community. Not long ago, for instance, I quoted an old lady whom I had given a lift to town as declaring emphatically that in this climate one should wear woolen ones, to keep out the cold and damp. To-day a gentleman who holds an important public position came to me wearing an expression of profound gratitude. "You know," he said, "what you said about wool was very opportune. I was in the hospital at the time and I had told the supervising nurse that wool was the only thing which would keep you properly warm in the winter, and she insisted that silk was better. She said I should wear silk if I wanted to keep out of the hospital. All the time I was in the hospital we argued about the relative merits of silk and wool. She had a lot of scientific evidence to support her view in favor of silk, whereas I had only my own experience in favor of wool. And just then, at the psychological moment, that piece appeared in the paper about woolen ones. That clinched the argument. She could not answer that. So I am wearing wool."

* * *

THIS SHOWS you to what elevating subjects the imagination of this community reaches when men in important public positions argue with supervising nurses about the relative value of wool and silk. And when they settle their argument by the word of this column, and stake their comfort and health on the views of the old lady whom I lifted to town, surely that should convince the most sceptical of our superior Victorian intelligence.

* * *

AS I HAVE often explained before, next to the 1 per cent income tax in the Legislature of British Columbia, I love the manly game of bridge better than anything. I am always getting new enlightenment on bridge from unexpected quarters, and it seems to me that bridge is going to the dogs in many places. For example, a bridge-playing friend of mine just returned from one of the smaller towns up the Island, one of those jolly little, little Island places where one is always going to retire in one's old age and never does. What he told me about the bridge up there was indeed appalling, and I hope that something can be done about it before the horror spreads.

* * *

SAID HE: "Up there they do not play bridge at all as we know it. I was shocked, I can tell you, to find them laughing and talking over the bridge table all through the game. Why," said my friend with the expression of a man who has just seen a ghost, "do you know what they do up there? It isn't bridge at all, you know. Actually, sitting at the bridge table they seem to be—well, they seem to be enjoying the game!" Can't something be done to enlighten the barbarism of our up-island population?

THANKS TRIBUNAL

To the Editor:—I was up for examination before the Pensions Tribunal yesterday and this letter is to publicly thank the members of the tribunal for courtesies extended to me during the hearing, as I have an impediment in my speech which tended to delay the proceedings.

They were most patient and gave me every opportunity to express myself.

CIVIC ELECTION

To the Editor:—For years I have advocated that would-be aspirants for municipal honors should publish their names at least one month before election day. This should give voters plenty of time to make personal enquiries into the capabilities of those who wish to be elected to take charge of the city's business. Personally I have no use for rosy speeches or improbable promises which are generally like "pie crust." I would rather vote for those who have a big stake in the town's financial standing. They are the people who have to find the cash to keep the city's ship afloat. This year there has been a larger amount of taxes paid than usual. It is not on account of people having more money but simply the fact that living expenses have been cut nearly in halves, soon may be the reverse.

Now is the time when we require far-sighted men to conserve our expenditures and prepare for some future day when people may vote for another batch of extraordinary ventures and expenses—let us hope not for such speculations as elevators, cold storage plants, etc. What we require are hard-headed business men who have gone through the mill and those can be secured through personal inquiry. Give me rather the quiet thinking practical man who ponders over perplexing questions, who tries to find out the whys and wherefores rather than a snap decision. I consider all voters should inquire and absolutely decide before going to the polls that their choice is fit to carry on the big business of city management. It is a complicated business and not to be trifled with.

WALTER J. DANDRIDGE,
1612 Fell Street, Victoria, B.C.,

SOCIALISM

To the Editor:—I would appreciate space in your paper to reply to the ramblings and unintelligible letter "Socialism and Nationalism," which plainly shows the writer has not given five minutes' consideration to the subject of socialism.

Yes, a Labor Party is being formed all over Canada, with a live local existing in Victoria, and if the writer would attend one of our meetings, which are held in the Labor Hall every Sunday at 8 p.m., he would be much wiser than he is to-day; also he would be given an opportunity to take part in the discussion if he felt inclined to do so.

What has the Old Country Labor Party to do with a Labor Party in Canada? "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

The Old Country Labor Party failed in one important point for years back. They were led by a few opportunists who thought first of office, instead of a policy of educating the workers to socialism, as the I.L.P. propose to do in Canada.

Had they done that during their past life, that super-showman, Ramsay MacDonald, could not have fooled the workers the way he did.

Mr. Sheppard agrees the two old political parties are identical. I will go farther and say that this reform party has nothing whatever to offer the working class.

Let me remind him that every political party express a class interest, and as our governments represent the exploiting class, the working class must form a party, to look after the interest of that class. There are only two classes in society, those who own, but do not produce, and those who produce, but do not own. Hence the Labor Party represents the producing class, while all other parties, including the reform party, represent the capitalist class.

I wish to make this plain, while we have to form a party to achieve our objects, when once we arrive at that objective, we will proceed to abolish all classes, except the producing class; therefore the interest of the working class is diametrically opposed to all other classes.

As Mr. Sheppard lack the knowledge of the principals of socialism, in conclusion I would like to quote what we as a Socialist Party aim to achieve, i.e, the establishment of a system of society, based upon the common ownership and democratic control of the means and instruments for producing and distributing wealth, by and in the interest of the whole community.

GIFTS RECEIVED AT LIGHTHOUSE SHOWER TEA

Annual Birthday Gathering Held at Connaught Seamen's Institute Yesterday

Many welcome gifts destined for the inmates of the lonely lighthouses around these shores were received at the annual lighthouse shower and birthday tea held yesterday afternoon at the Victoria Connaught Seamen's Institute, Superior Street. Gifts of books, including a large consignment from the Home for Aged Women; magazines; a box of pretty and useful gifts from Angus Campbell's Club, the usual welcome packet of "smokes" from the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E., and donations of socks and other woolies were displayed.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMME

Mrs. Alice Thomson, president of the institute, received the guests, and Mrs. J. Gordon Smith was treasurer for the afternoon. Festoons from a recent Hallowe'en party lent a festive appearance and the beautiful chrysanthemums and dahlias which adorned the small tea tables were the gift of Mrs. W. W. Laing. Under the convenershop of Madame Claudet a musical programme of great charm was presented by J. Jones, flautist, who was heard in "Kinlock of Kinlock," a selection of Scottish airs, and the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana"; Madame Claudet, who sang with distinction "Little Bateese," "O'Hara" and Rubenstein's "Since First I met Thee." Capt. J. McGrath's beautiful voice was heard with pleasure in "Emblems," a "Chanty Ballad" and "Kneel Down, Beloved;" Major W. H. Watt acted as accompanist and Mrs. Downs gave two clever recitations. Mrs. Vernon Thomson convened the tea and was assisted by Mrs. Finmore, Miss de Trafford, Mrs. Shorrock, Mrs. W. W. Laing, Miss Mary Thomson and Mrs. Rodway.

During the afternoon Mrs. R. W. Sayer, secretary of the institute, read a very brief resume of some of the leading facts culled from the annual report, showing registration by seamen at the institute during the past year as 4,615; apprentice boys, 353; 533 who have slept at the institute; 684 letters received and mailed; thirty-four free meals; 226 free beds; 228 ships visited; 434 packages of literature for the ships leaving port; 220 pairs of socks have been made; fifty-one sweaters; twenty-five scarves and twenty-three pairs of mitts.

Captain W. Brown, speaking for the men's committee of the institute, congratulated the members upon the amount of work accomplished during the year, upon the uniformly spotless appearance of the premises at any hour of the day one might care to inspect the rooms; and upon the friendly spirit prevailing and which must be of such comfort to seamen while in port. Colonel Wilby invited the general public to call in and inspect the institute and see for themselves the happy arrangements made for the sailors, who are a friendly lot and enjoy the society of others, while appreciating to the full any kindness shown them.

In conclusion Captain Brown asked the men present and their friends to send clothing such as distressed seamen might be glad to wear, the exigencies of their calling often spoiling their suits for shore wear. A supply is always kept on hand for those who may have been shipwrecked or who have lost through storms or the daily fulfilment of their duties such clothing as others would deem only their right to possess. During this season of unemployment the institute is doing a very good work in housing and feeding seamen out of work, two days' free food and bed being allowed, while every effort is made to reinstate them.

Science finds new reasons for KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

MILLIONS have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe way to overcome common constipation. Now science shows this delicious cereal brings three benefits to the diet: "Bulk." Vitamin B. Iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce—only it is concentrated in a more convenient form to relieve constipation. It absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

Vitamin B tones the intestines, and promotes regular habits. Iron builds blood, and aids health generally.

No wonder ALL-BRAN is considered far more natural than pills and drugs — so often habit-forming. Try two tablespoonfuls daily. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal or use in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

The resolution passed unanimously.

Mrs. Ebbs-Canavan was appointed Diocesan Convenor of Study Clubs.

OFFICERS RE-APPOINTED

OAK BAY AND VICTORIA

Speaking to a resolution of sympathy to Mrs. J. S. H. Matson and family, the Bishop said Mr. Matson had been the best friend of his diocese in this city, and his kindness and good citizenship had multiplied itself in innumerable ways to the betterment of all with whom his very active and charitable life brought him in contact.

More Treasures Of Aged Recluse Are Discovered

New York, N.Y., Nov. 6.—In a trunk which Mrs. Ida E. Wood, ninety-three-year-old recluse, packed more than fifty years ago, agents of her guardian found a set of "The Tragedies of Mr. William Shakespeare" printed in 1623. They contained a preface by Ben Johnson.

The six volumes, 11½x9 ins., were said by collectors to be extremely valuable. The edition was limited to 150 subscribers.

Mrs. Wood for whom her nephew, Otis F. Wood, was appointed guardian, recently produced nearly $1,000,000 in currency and jewels, most of which she had kept hidden about her clothing for many years.

MANY REASONS FOR APPETITELESSNESS IN CHILDREN

Why some children are chronically indifferent to food is not always apparent, especially when we must rely only on information furnished by the mother. The well-fed child has a tendency to be indifferent to food. He has never been hungry enough to know how enticing food can be. The child who eats any time the mood seizes him learns to nibble but never to eat a decent meal at regular mealtimes. The tired child has no appetite. The underweight child, because he may be chronically fatigued, may spurn just those foods which would contribute to his well being. The spoiled child soon learns to make use of "I'm not hungry" as a club over the heads of his anxious parents. The reasons run on and on.

DISLIKES MILK

Mrs. R.C.L. has a boy of three years whose weight is only twenty-six pounds, though he weighed over nine pounds at birth. She asks: "Isn't he terribly underweight?" and I have to admit that he is.

She continues, "He seems healthy and sleeps well at night, but does not sleep in the daytime. He has never had an appetite like other children. He detests milk and won't take it any way I fix it. I have tried powdered foods to mix with it, but he won't drink these if milk is added. He is unusually active. Please suggest something."

I first suggest that you send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for the leaflet on "Physical and Psychological Reasons for Appetitelessness," also "Week's Menu from Two to Four Years" if you have not this already. Address requests to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

NEEDS EXAMINATION

I think you do the child an injustice not to have him examined by a competent pediatrist who will search for the physical reasons for the child's indifference to food. This condition has continued for so long that it demands expert attention.

Recently the column printed an article giving the ways in which milk may be incorporated into the diet without the child's being asked to drink it. For the eight ounces daily, that it was suggested he be given, you might try buttermilk. One quart of churned buttermilk, to which four ounces of sweet cream has been added, makes a delicious drink with practically the same nourishment as whole sweet milk. Without this added cream, buttermilk does not contain the same nourishment. Buttermilk made from whole milk and buttermilk tablets is the same as whole sweet milk in food value.

MORE REST NEEDED

Such tiny children tend to improve in weight and appetite if they have more rest. It is not always possible to make a restless child sleep in the daytime, but he should have a daily rest period right after lunch for at least one hour. Bathe him before lunch, give him his noon meal and then put him in bed, and give him some toys with which he can play quietly. If he enjoys being read to, this is an excellent time to do it. If he lies quietly when music is played, turn on the radio or the phonograph and entertain him. Do anything to keep him quiet.

He should be in bed not later than 7 every night, and no plans of the parents should be allowed to interfere with this regular and early bedtime. A combination of proper foods and rest may work wonders with this underweight child, providing there are no physical reasons for his appetitelessness.

V.A.C. Gridders Make Splendid Showing Against Alberta Champs

* * *

Coast Team With Few Breaks Should Reach Western Final

* * *

Keen Speculation Over Chances of Eight Teams in N.H.L.

* * *

Every Club in Circuit Appears Strengthened Over Last Season

VANCOUVER ATHLETIC CLUB gridders, champions of British Columbia, gave a splendid account of themselves on Wednesday in Calgary in the first of the two-game series of the Western Canadian football semi-finals. Playing on a strange field, bothered by the high altitude and just having completed the train journey, the Vacs staged a strenuous battle against the Altomah-Tigers, champions of Alberta. In fact, the Vancouver gridders were unfortunate in losing by the two-point margin. They had an even break on the play with Calgary, scoring their five points on their lone breakaway in the four quarters. By to-morrow, when the second game of the series will be played, the Vacs will have secured a rest after their trip from the coast and stand a good chance of winning their way to the western final. The two-point deficit is no big handicap, and with a few breaks the Vancouver club should crash through to a victory.

* * *

Should the Vacs win out they will face the task of triumphing over the winner of the Regina Roughriders-Winnipeg St. John's series. The champions of Saskatchewan and Manitoba commence their two-game series to-morrow with Regina overwhelming favorites to win. On their play this season the Roughriders are a pretty safe bet to capture another Western Canada championship. Al Ritchie's team has been invincible in the west for the last four seasons, and on their play this year Regina appears to have another championship club. It would be a big boost for football in British Columbia if the Vacs can make the western final.

Keen speculation is being indulged in around the National Hockey League circuit regarding the prospects of the various teams in the league. The suspension of the Ottawa and Philadelphia franchises for a year has resulted in a distribution of strong talent which will cause a revision of estimates based on prospects taken on the basis of how the clubs finished last season.

* * *

Taking the Montreal teams first, there is evidence of strengthening in both camps. It is hard to figure how the Canadiens, holders of the Stanley Cup, could improve. Their defence will be strengthened by the acquisition of Art Smith, the possibility of Dunc Munro joining the club, or the addition of dashing Leo Bourgault. Cecil Hart has plans to add further speed to his fleet forward line and it may be that Gaudreault, a speed merchant from Providence, may be added to the flying forward line. The same forceful defence play of Burke and Leduc, coupled with the effective rushing of Sylvio Mantha and the cool goal-tending of Hainsworth, should make them definite factors in the race from the start.

* * *

Montreal Maroons, with a new manager in the person of Sprague Cleghorn, wise in the ways of hockey, tempered by minor league managerial experience, and with a reputation as a player second to none, are expected to be in the thick of the fight. A bad start last season and bad breaks played their part in Maroons' failure last season. This year they have added Starr and Coulson, two energetic players. Gallagher, broadened by a year's experience, and the possibility of a good third line in Duguid, Haynes and Robinson, are strong assets for this year's campaign.

* * *

New York Americans, under the guidance of Eddie Gerard and with the addition of Joe Lamb, the hard-checking Shields, Grosvenor and Frank Kilrea, will be a stronger scoring aggregation than last season. They have better balance and will be able to abandon their defensive tactics of other seasons.

* * *

Their rivals, the Rangers, have added a competent centre player in Milks, a former Philadelphia Quaker member, a fast aggressive player in Somers, and Gainor, an experienced forward from Boston. They will rest their case largely on the prowess of the Cook brothers and Boucher combination.

* * *

The Detroit Falcons under the leadership of Jack Adams made a keen fight last season, and their chances are enhanced by the addition of Hec Kilrea, the cool and competent Connell, Alex. Smith and the up-and-coming Danny Cox. With Goodfellow, their great scorer, the veteran Ree. Noble, and a competent reserve list of speed and power, there is no reason why Detroit should not become a serious contender.

* * *

Boston Bruins are even more powerful than last year, when they won the American section. Jerwa, secured from Rangers, should bolster their defence, which lacked effective subs last season. The Bruins have a number of candidates for forward positions, and this coupled with the advantage of having one of the most capable mentors in hockey in Art Ross makes the Bruins formidable contenders.

Toronto Maple Leafs have strengthened up by the addition of Finnigan, Howe, Darragh, Levinsky and Gracie, and these additions give them added power. The team looks formidable, and if there are no casualties such as beset them in the thick of last year's campaign should finish mighty close to the top. Lack of man power hurt them in the stretch grind last season.

* * *

Constant changing of managers may play some part in Chicago's reconstruction plans. They have brought up a youngster named Matheson from Winnipeg to carry out the commands of their owner, Major Fred McLaughlin. They have added Jerry Lowery, clever Philadelphia player, who should strengthen their forward line. Considerable depends on how the team reacts to their new manager, as Dick Irvin, their former mentor, was popular with the players.

Win Over Varsity Will Give Locals Runner-up Position

Capitals Need Victory Over Strong U.B.C. Gridders to Finish "Big Four" League Schedule in Second Place; Local Team Will Be Same as Defeated Meralomas Here Two Weeks Ago; Varsity Bringing Strong Line-up

To-morrow afternoon will witness the dropping of the curtain on the "Big Four" Canadian Rugby League schedule in British Columbia, when the Victoria Capitals clash with the University of British Columbia gridders at the Royal Athletic Park, commencing at 2.30 o'clock. Although the league title has been decided with the Vancouver Athletic Club, B.C. champions, now in Calgary contesting the western Canada semi-finals, the locals are keen for a win to-morrow in order to finish the season in second place.

In their last match, played here two weeks ago, the Capitals hung up a 14 to 6 victory over the Vancouver Meralomas and to do so turned in their best performance of the season. In this match the Caps played championship rugby and the local supporters went home happy.

LOCAL LINE-UP

Coach Doug Roberts stated to-day he will field the same team against Varsity that humbled Meralomas. Campbell Forbes, the boy with the educated toe, and George Warnock will look after the two end positions. Bruce Forbes and Darcy will hold down the two tackle positions, while the guards will be Bob Engleson and Cox. At snap will be Smith, with Benny McMillan and Bill Lemm alternating at flying wing. Jack Bellis will be at quarter back with Jack Horne at left half; Brian Hunnings, right half, and H. Engleson, centre half.

One addition to the Victoria team to-morrow will be Bill Latta, University of British Columbia player, who will alternate with Horne at left half. Latta played on the Victoria club last season and his presence to-morrow will strengthen Victoria's backfield.

Varsity are bringing over twenty-four players for the match and are determined to close the "Big Four" schedule with a victory. The students showed their best form of the season when they held the Meralomas to a 2 to 2 deadlock last week. The previous Saturday they scored an impressive victory over the New Westminster Dodekas.

VARSITY PLAYERS

The Varsity team will be as follows: T. Brown-Purdue, Mitchell, Hall, E. Brown, Stewart, E. Peden, Baynes, Morrison, Farrington, Bolton, Malcolm, McGuire, Johnson, Hedreen, Dirom, Murdoch, McIntyre, Henderson, Chodat, Doug Gordon, Root and Morrow. The team will arrive to-morrow morning.

Ernie Peden, Victoria youngster, is one of the mainstays of the visitors and his playing will be watched by the local fans with great interest. Peden starred in local swimming and bicycle riding before leaving for the University.

KING CLANCY IS MAIN COG FOR TORONTO

Maple Leaf's Chances in National Hockey League Centre Around Defence Star

New Players Add Strength to Toronto Attack; Team Will Be Heavy and Fast

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Toronto fans are saying this is "Maple Leaf year" in the National Hockey League. They can see nothing less than a first or second place in the international group for the 1931-32 edition of the Leafs. Coach Conny Smythe is sure he has the makings of a Stanley Cup winner.

"My regulars were just hitting their true stride when the season ended last year," he said, "and the acquisition of Frank Finnegan, Sid Howe and Hal Darragh from Ottawa and Philadelphia has given us added strength."

Smythe is pinning chief hopes for this year on "Frank "King" Clancy, 170 pounds of defensive dynamite.

THE LINE-UP

With Clancy on the back line this year, as the teams line up in traning, are Alex. Levinsky and Red Horner. Lorne Chabot, the veteran obtained from the New York Rangers two years ago, will be in the nets, with Benny Grapt in reserve. Up forward, Smythe will have Joe Primeau, Charles Connacher, brother of Lionel; Hal Cotton, Darragh, Howe, Finnegan, Andy Blair, Bob Gracie, Harvey Jackson and Ace Bailey.

Horner is a fiery type of player, who pairs well with Clancy, as does Levinsky. Cotton is one of the best centres in the loop, and much is expected of Gracie. Bailey is usually well up among the scoring leaders.

The three newcomers—Finnegan, Howe and Darragh—all played with Clancy at Ottawa at one time or another and are familiar with each other's style.

The Leafs this year will be both heavy and fast, the team averaging around 173 pounds.

Bob Kruse Wins Over Abe Kaplan

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—Bob Kruse, Portland, 198, beat Abe Kaplan, New York, 218, when he tossed the New Yorker out of the ring for the deciding fall of the feature wrestling match here yesterday evening. Kaplan took the first fall in the second round, but Kruse evened it up in the fifth and won the match when Kaplan failed to come back after hitting his head on the floor.

Ronald Kerchmeyer, Laboma, won two out of three falls from Wild Bill Donovan in a lively match which ended in the fourth round. Jack Rogers, Texas, took the opener from Jack McArthey with two falls.

Chicago Cubs Buy Coast League Star

Chicago, Nov. 6—The Cubs to-day made their first move to strengthen their battle line for the 1932 campaign by purchasing Stanley Hack, star third baseman from the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast League.

A large amount of cash, not revealed, and a player to be named later was offered and accepted for Hack. He batted .350 for Sacramento last season and sparkled on the defence. His rise in baseball within one year has been one of the most sensational in baseball.

HEAVY NAVY TEAM DOWNS HIGH SCHOOL

Sailors Smash Through Students' Rugby Team and Scores 16 to 0 Victory

School Unable to Stand Sustained Attack of Much Heavier Opponents

The senior rugby squad from the Naval Barracks yesterday afternoon trounced the Victoria High School club in a bang up exhibition of the English game by a 16 to 0 score. The game was played on the High School grounds with a large crowd in attendance. Both teams played good ball and the score is no indication of the game that the students put up against the heavier opponents.

Victoria High kicked off deep to the sailors' goal line. Edwards barged his way through the High team to midfield, where a scrum was called. Robson, bouncing, acrobatic High School halfback, picked up a loose ball and ran forty yards before being tackled heavily by Robinson, Navy fullback, on the sailors' sixteen-yard line. Robinson relieved with a nice kick to midfield which was taken by Patrick. Patrick ran the ball back to Navy's twenty-five-yard line where he passed out to Scott to start a pretty three-quarter run which wound up on Navy's goal line after Gaunt missed a pass from Scott. Navy bucked up and put the ball deep in High territory after a series of runs and kicks.

FIRST TRY N

Navy's first score came late in the first half when McDonald picked up the ball from the loose and dashed fifty yards to the High School goal line where Ferguson stopped him. As he was being tackled he gave the ball to 220-pound Banfield who ploughed over between the posts. Edwards failed to convert. The half ended soon after.

From the start of the second frame Navy used its weight to advantage and steadily sailed down the field, winding up on the High School five-yard line. The ball was in the High School twenty-five yard territory for the next fifteen minutes. However, Ferguson finally forced a "two bit" kick to relieve pressure. After steadily gaining, Victoria High came to rest on the Navy twenty-five-yard line. Navy came down field again and started a barrage on the High line. Sweatnam started the bee when he dragged the whole High team over the line on his back. Edwards converted for the extra points. Score 8-0.

SCORING BEE

High School pressed from the kick-off, but the heavier Navy men soon retaliated. Sweatman went over again with Edwards converting. Three minutes later Edwards scored again for the Navy, the kick going wide.

High School played like Trojans but to no avail, and the game ended with the Navy in possession of the ball on the High twenty-five-yard line.

W. Johnson handled the whistle. The teams were:

Navy—Robinson; Williams, McDonald, Edwards, Hibbert; Banfield, Hudson; Sharpe, Donald, Sweatnam, Porteous, Sullivan, Jackson and McSwayne.

High School—Stipe; Addison, Patrick, Scott, Gaunt; Ferguson, Robson; Levy, Lesson, Smith, Temple, Crawford, Johnson and Peden.

Miracles of Sport — By Robert Edgren

Edmonton Grads Win Over Toronto 123-19

P. Page's Famous Women's Basketball Quintette Sets New Scoring Record

Winners Score 40 Points in Final Quarter; Millie MacCormack Top Scorer

Edmonton, Nov. 6.—Dishing up a brand of basketball that bewildered even the huge throng of Edmonton supporters who have long been accustomed to one-sided victories by Percy Page's great team, the Commercial Grads yesterday evening buried an all-star Toronto squad beneath a score of 123 to 19 in the first of a two-game series at the Arena rink. Four of the visiting team are members of the Toronto Lakesides, who were awarded the Dominion championship last spring by default.

SET NEW RECORD

At no time did the Ontario squad have a chance against the wonder team of Page, and in piling up the huge total of 123 points, the Grads set a new record for scoring in women's basketball in the Dominion, and possibly in the entire world.

Millie MacCormack led the assault of the Edmonton girls on the Toronto basket with thirty-six points.

In the fourth quarter the winners scored forty points while their opponents were able to count only a single point.

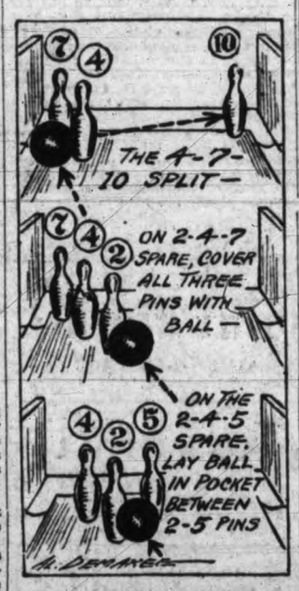
Dot McNeill was the pick of the defeated Toronto squad.

Phil Todt Is Sent To St. Paul Club

Philadelphia, Nov. 6. Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia American League baseball club, announced yesterday evening the transfer of Phil Todt, first baseman, to St. Paul, of the American Association. Todt is being sent to the minor league club to complete the deal whereby Oscar Roettger, St. Paul first baseman, is brought to the Athletics.

Big League Bowling

By AL DEMAREE



In the above drawing I have illustrated two common spares and a split that occur every night on every alley in the country. In the 4-7-10 split, I have shown the only possible way of making that shot. In the other two spares, I have shown, not the only possible way of making them, but what in the consensus of opinion of the best bowlers in the country, offers the greatest percentage of success.

Delivery of the ball on any shot is a matter of co-ordination of brain and muscle. Any interference with this process naturally causes poor bowling. Step up to any spare that confronts you with confidence and your percentage of success is doubled.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet on "Spares" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Harry Ketchell Is Unpopular Winner Over Benny Gallup

Tacoma, Nov. 6.—Harry Ketchel, Tacoma featherweight, gained an unpopular decision over Benny Gallup, San Francisco, in the six-round main event of the ring programme here yesterday evening. Ketchel rallied to take the last two rounds, but most of the fans thought that Gallup had the advantage in all of the first four rounds.

Don Fraser, Spokane welter, won by a knockout in the third round over Sammy Gallup, Benny's younger brother, in the scheduled six-round semi-windup.

Petie Miller, Tacoma 130-pounder, surprised by winning a decision over "Red" Van der Vert, Spokane, in six rounds.

The Spokane boy's recent one-round knockout victory over Young Nationalista had installed him as a heavy favorite over Miller.

Fall Race Meet Gets Started At Tanforan To-day

San Bruno, Cal., Nov. 6.—With 750 horses stabled, Tanforan track will open to-day for a fall meeting to run twenty-six or more days. The inaugural handicap, a mile and seventy yards' test for two-year-olds and up, will be the feature race of the seven-race programme. Brown Wisdom and Seth's Hope will pack top weight of 112 pounds. An opening day crowd of more than 10,000 spectators was expected.

The city officials will be welcomed to the park by Joe Bloom, president of the Victoria and District League Football League. The match will commence at 2.45 o'clock.

One other match will be played to-morrow afternoon with Victoria City opposing the Saanich Thistles at the lower Beacon Hill grounds.

Important Gridiron Battles Scheduled In West To-morrow

Vancouver Athletic Club, B.C. Champions, Oppose Calgary Altomah-Tigers in Second Game of Western Semi-finals, After Dropping Initial Counter 6 to 4; Read Will Be Out of Vacs Line-up Through Injuries; Regina Roughriders Meet Winnipeg St. John's in Sudden-death Fixture

Canadian Press

Calgary, Nov. 6—With one or two exceptions, the Vancouver and Calgary squads meeting here Saturday in the second game of the western rugby semi-final will be the same as met Wednesday, when Calgary won 6 to 4, it was indicated to-day. From the camp of the Vancouver Athletic Club, winners of the Coast title, it was learned that Frank Read will be missing from the line-up.

Read suffered injuries to the muscles of his right hip and should the Vacs overcome the two-point lead and travel east for the final, it is unlikely he will be able to play again this season. The injury is not serious, but it is bad enough to prevent him returning to the gridiron for a while. A rumor is also being circulated that Coach Norm Burley may don the green sweater and get into Saturday's match as a sub at quarter.

BOTH TEAMS REST

Both teams spent yesterday resting. Just as a stunt, Don MacKenzie ascended to the roof of the twelve-story Pallister Hotel and tossed a rugby ball to his Coast team-mate, Ed. Kendall. Kendall caught the ball all right, but the force was so strong it knocked him over. The Vacs yesterday witnessed an interscholastic rugby match between Crescent Heights and western Canada, the Heights team winning 8 to 1.

Light workouts will probably be held this afternoon by both teams.

Striding confident in their vaunted power, unbeaten by any western foe in years, Regina Roughriders roll into Winnipeg for a sudden-death clash with Manitoba's champion, St. John's, that can only end in one fashion—as far as expert observers are concerned. In the last five Manitoba-Saskatchewan football contests, the mid-prairie province has left its fate to Roughriders, and each time the Reginas have won.

If Al Ritchie's force whips St. John's, also undefeated this season, it will qualify to meet either Vancouver Athletic Club or Calgary Altomah-Tigers in the western senior final.

University of Manitoba, with two straight triumphs to their credit and the prairie section of the inter-collegiate loop virtually won, can definitely settle the matter Saturday at Saskatoon, where they meet University of Saskatchewan. A Manitoba win would send the big brown band, coached by Karl Wintemute, on to the Coast for a final series with University of British Columbia.

WINNIPEG FAVORED

In a junior sudden-death semi-final, Winnipeg Native Sons of Canada and Moose Jaw Maroons will wage war at Moose Jaw, the winner to take on Calgary Altomahs, Alberta champions, in the western final. The Winnipeg set, runners-up for the Canadian title last fall, are favored to defeat Maroons.

None of the titled teams Regina has produced since 1926 was so rich in individual stars as the Roughrider squad Ritchie will send against St. John's on Saturday. Behind a line that is experienced, hard, fast, are four outstanding ball carriers, passers and kickers.

Quarter-back Angie Mitchell can call on Eddie James, greatest line dynamiter in the west, to smash Winnipeg's line; Desmond Grubb and Curt Schave to skirt the ends; Saul Bloomfield to kick, and either Schave or Jersey Campbell, a lineman, to throw forward passes. Only at punting can the Saints match this combination. Alf McLaughlin is likely to match shots wil Bloomfield in the air.

CANADIENS TO COME WEST FOR LACROSSE PLAY

Champions of Eastern Pro League Will Play New Westminster For Minto Cup

World Championship Held By Salmonbellies; Games Carded Next Spring

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The Canadiens lacrosse team, champions of the International Professional Lacrosse League, will travel west next spring in an effort to annex the Minto Cup, emblematic of the world lacrosse championship, now held by the Salmonbellies of New Westminster, it was announced here yesterday evening.

The International League issued a challenge for the Minto Cup to New Westminster before the play-off series in September, Canadiens won the title by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs two games to one. The Salmonbellies refused to accept the challenge this fall because of the lateness of the season, and suggested that the series be played in the spring.

LEAVE IN APRIL

The eastern loop has apparently accepted the proposal as Canadiens will start for the west in April, just after the close of the national hockey season. Newsy Lalonde, manager of the Canadiens, said yesterday that he expected to have the same line-up that won the international championship in the series for the Minto Cup.

W. SPAVEN IS CADDIES' GOLF CHAMP

Colwood Youngster Springs Surprise By 4 and 3 Win Over Ken Lawson in Final

Winner 1 Up at End of First Eighteen; Spaven Receives Mrs. David Spencer Cup

Walter Spaven of the Colwood Golf Club, is the first holder of the Mrs. David Spencer Cup, emblematic of the city caddies' golf championship. Yesterday at the Gorge Vale Club Spaven sprang a surprise by hanging up a 4 and 3 victory over Ken Lawson, Oak Bay and Uplands, over thirty-six holes. Lawson was the winner of the medal honors on Monday and a heavy favorite to lift the crown.

Following the final, the beautiful cup was presented to the winner by the donor, who congratulated both the winner and the runner-up for their fine exhibition.

After halving the first six holes of the morning round, Spaven took the lead at the seventh. The eighth and ninth were halved, as the tenth, eleventh and twelfth. Lawson snared a par four at the thirteenth to square the match, but Spaven took the fourteenth and the lead again. Lawson won the sixteenth to even matters, only to have his opponent win the eighteenth and finish the morning round 1 up.

TAKES BIG LEAD

Spaven started the afternoon round by winning the first four holes to become 5 up. Two pars won the next two holes for Lawson, while the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth holes were halved, with Spaven winning the twenty-seventh, to be 4 up at the three-quarter mark. The next six holes were halved, with the match ending on the fifteenth green.

PRIZE LIST

Roller Hockey Season Will Open In City On Thursday

Mickey Walker May Meet Stribling In Match At New York

Former Middleweight Champion and Georgian Named as Probable Opponents on Christmas Fund Card Scheduled December 11; Stribling's First Major Opponent Since His Decisive Whipping by Schmeling; Walker May Refuse Offer

New York, Nov. 6—Mickey Walker's third chance at a ranking heavyweight probably will come against Young Stribling in Madison Square Garden, December 11, for the New York American's Christmas fund.

Negotiations have reached the point where Stribling's handlers have agreed to the match, which, if completed, will send the Macon heavyweight against a major opponent for the first time since his decisive defeat by Max Schmeling in Cleveland, July 3.

Walker, who beat Johnny Risko at Miami in February and drew with Jack Sharkey here this summer, originally offered his services to the Christmas fund with the idea of meeting Sharkey again. The Boston sailor, however, turned down the bout.

KEARNS MAY REFUSE

Some observers professed doubt as to whether Walker's manager, Jack Kearns, would agree to the Stribling match.

They pointed out that prospects of a title match between Walker and Schmeling in Los Angeles February 22 recently have looked very rosy, and they doubted whether Kearns would jeopardize such a bout by sending Walker against Stribling. Definite decision as to the Walker-Stribling tangle was expected within a day or two.

J. F. Devlin Has Issued New Book On Badminton Game

J. F. Devlin, holder of the All-England singles, a title he has won six times in the last seven years, has issued a book, with the co-operation of Slazengers (Canada) on badminton and its problems. Devlin is the new professional at the luxurious winter club at Winnipeg and is the foremost badminton player in the world. He has put the book together in a very entertaining manner which will appeal to all badminton players dealing with every phase of the game. The book is being sold by all Slazengers agents.

Reorganization of Coast Hockey Loop Still in Progress

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—Just when the Pacific Coast Hockey League playing season will get under way will not be definitely known until the league's president, Frank Patrick, is in a position to make an official announcement, and this will not be for several days, it is understood. Details of the league's reorganization are still under consideration.

An announcement in Seattle yesterday evening said that Dave Kemp, Red Stuart, Ernie Anderson, Jack Walker, Bobbie Benson, Jack Hanson and J. McVeigh, members of last year's Seattle team, which has been disbanded, are free agents. Five others who figured in the Eskimo line-up last year have been placed with other teams.

Convention Will Determine Tennis Rankings in U.S.

New York, Nov. 6—National tennis rankings, heretofore in effect, decided entirely by a committee, will be fought out next year on the United States Lawn Tennis Association's convention floor.

Under a rule adopted at the last convention, the U.S.L.T.A. ranking committee will be required to announce its selections at least one month before the annual meeting in New Orleans February 6, 1932. Approval or disapproval of the selections will be made by the convention delegates who will have had thirty days or more to consider the rankings as recommended.

Previously the selections as made by the ranking committee, were submitted for approval to the executive committee, which then, as a matter of form, placed them before the convention for approval.

TEAMS MIDWAY THROUGH HALF IN RUGBY PLAY

College Will Seek Fourth Win in Game Against University To-morrow

Brentwood to Play Scottish; Gunners Stack Up Against Wanderers

Midway through their first half race for intermediate rugby honors, six teams will take the field in to-morrow's fixtures. Several of them will be below their usual strength owing to injuries, but close games are expected.

In what should be the feature, Victoria College, which has completed its first three games without having its line crossed, will be out to make it four in a row at the expense of the University School at Mount Tolmie. The Collegians will be without the services of Howard English, hard-working forward who was injured last Saturday, but are expected to be exceptionally strong. Joe Roberts will replace English, while the remainder of the team is expected to be the same as that which defeated the J.B.A.A. last week.

The University team has been working regularly, and, although light, is reported to be in good condition. They should be able to match the Collegians, but may have difficulty in stopping their heavier opponents.

SCOTS REORGANIZE SCRUM

Canadian Scottish will have a reorganized scrum for their battle with Brentwood College at Tod Inlet. The players will be virtually the same in the pack, but will have different positions. Quinn, who was laid off after the first game through injuries, will be back in the fight as half.

Roy Lund is slated for full-back, with Kirkham, Hall, Tyrer and Stark as three. Bill Parker will start as five-eighths, and David, a new man, will be one of the halves. Uhler, Lee, Hesselein, Muirhead, Rowton, Warburton and Correnelle are listed as forwards.

Brentwood's first team, which has won the two games it has played, will be intact for the tussle. On their showing so far they should be able to beat the militiamen.

WANDERERS WEAKENED

Charlie Morton, coach of the intermediate Wanderers, is in a quandary. Five of his regulars are on the sick list and the Oak Bay boys may have difficulty in fielding a strong squad to meet the Gunners at Oak Bay Park.

Ellis may not be able to play full-back, but McConnan, Slater and Williams are virtually sure to turn out as three of the three-quarters. Flem Stewart, hard-working five-eighths, may also be out of the game with injuries.

Carmichael and Burgess will play halves, while McGregor, Vaucher, Roberson, Dickinson, Mayhew, Campbell and Bankes are expected to form the scrum. Some of the latter are also suffering from minor injuries, but will probably play in spite of them.

It may be the last game in which the Fifth take the field with the same line-up with which they started the season. Several of the Fifth players are expected to be promoted to the senior ranks when that division opens next Wednesday. McInnes, Weaver, Phillon, M. Patrick, A. Gaunt, Robinson, Robbins, Davis, Buller, Monk, Seivers, Archer, Grossman, Boss and S. Gaunt are scheduled to form the team.

MANDELL IS BEING URGED TO QUIT RING

Once Great Champ Has Fallen on Evil Days; May Lose Wednesday's Purse

Will Attempt to Continue Boxing Despite Pleas; Slips Down Ladder Fast

Chicago, Nov. 6—Sammy Mandell, once a great champion, but now only a ghost of the greatest boxer of his time, faces the humiliation of not receiving a cent as the result of being ordered from the ring in the eighth round of his pitiful engagement with Ralph Lenny, after the Battalino-Mastro featherweight championship fight in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday evening.

This development came yesterday, causing the admirers of the former lightweight titleholder to urge him to quit the ring. Under the rules of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, the purse of a boxer tossed out of the ring, is automatically forfeited, and the only compensation he may receive is train fare to and from his home, plus $25 a day for training expenses.

REFUSES TO QUIT

Despite the pleas of his admirers, Mandell will attempt to continue boxing. He thinks he received a raw deal when Referee Tommy Thomas declared his bout with Lenny "no contest" in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-rounder which followed the blistering featherweight title fight. The judges, with Referee Thomas, decided individually and collectively on their verdict.

In his last bout in the stadium with Jimmy McLaurin, Mandell received $23,000. Yet less than eighteen months later, in the same ring, Mandell appeared for a purse of $1,250. That was the sum he was to have been paid, but he must appear before the commission next Monday to show cause why the purse should not be forfeited.

SAANICH HALTS ALL ROADWORK

Province Turns Sixty Men to Municipal Payroll Already 1,100 Daily

New Registration to Be Made Next Week; Work Resumes November 16

Saanich relief work closed down to-night, not to reopen until Monday, November 16. The staff of 302 married men has been discharged and a complete re-registration will precede re-engagement of men at lower wages.

These steps were ordered yesterday evening by the Saanich Council, when informed that sixty married Saanich men, hitherto employed by the Provincial Public Works Department, had been discharged and must be added to the municipal employment roll, now costing $1,100 daily, or $12,000 every two weeks. Money now available is only enough to keep 150 men working until March.

All municipal road work in Saanich became an integral part of the unemployment relief programme when the federal government approved works costing $75,000 for immediate undertaking. A supplementary programme to cost $50,000, to carry on from February, is believed imperilled by federal restrictions recently announced.

WAGE SCALE CUT

The new registration will commence on Monday morning at the municipal hall at Royal Oak and at the fire hall on Carey Road. In addition to establishing lower wages, the council decided men may be required to work alternate weeks to conserve funds available.

The council ordered that foremen be employed on a reduced weekly wage of $22 for five days' work, but to be on duty for seven days each week for emergencies without overtime.

The new scale for ordinary workmen will be $2 daily, with an additional 25 cents for each child under sixteen years, up to four dependents. No allowance will be made for the wife.

MUST LIST ASSETS

When discussing the necessity for a new registration, councillors commented that the present forms show whether applicants for work enjoy pensions but make no difference between men drawing pittances and those receiving $60 or more monthly.

Councillors saw valuable aids to selection of men for work in inclusion on registration forms of particulars regarding automobiles, radios, washing machines and other assets. The age of articles was admitted to be a material factor and partly-paid-for goods were realized to be burdensome rather than assets.

The new registration blanks will show whether the applicant's wife is working and whether property owned is bringing in revenue or is mortgaged. The new wage scale will be submitted to the provincial government for approval before it becomes effective.

The unemployed relief committee was expanded to include the whole council and will meet on Thursday evening next to study the new list of registered married unemployed. Ward foremen will be present for consultation regarding distribution of work.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that McFarlane Drug Store and Vancouver Drug Co. says one bottle of HEM-ROAD Tablets must end your pile agony or money (Advt.)

Colwood

A successful sale of work was held Wednesday afternoon in Colwood Hall under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to St. John's Church. Rev. A. L. Nixon opened the sale.

The various conveners were: General convener, Mrs. H. Parker; work stall, Mrs. H. Parker and Miss Scott; home-cooking, Mrs. J. W. Little and Mrs. C. Carnegie; candy, Mrs. T. Millburn and Mrs. J. W. Little; bran tub, Mrs. Evans; afternoon tea, Mrs. A. Godfrey, Mrs. W. M. Brown and Miss A. Godfrey.

In the competition for guessing the name of a doll, Mrs. H. Parker Jr., was the winner.

Eight tables were in play at the weekly card party held in Colwood Hall Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Colwood Hall committee. The winners were Mrs. F. Hughes, first; Miss G. Miller, second; B. Parker, first; and H. Parker Jr., second. Announcement was made to the effect that Mrs. Marcott and T. Parker had the highest score for the month.

Is It Your Liver?

Port Lorne, N.S., —"A few years ago I had jaundice—my liver was in a terrible condition. In my right side a little towards the back I had a very sore place. It hurt in work and I began to feel uneasy about it," writes Mrs. Archie L. Neaves, Box 38. "I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he told me I had chronic congestion of the liver and advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and I was completely relieved. I felt like a new person and never had a cold all winter, whereas other winters I would have many." All druggists. (Advt.)

VICTORIA BROKER LOSES APPEAL IN OIL STOCK SUIT

Calgary, Nov. 6—Appeal of Hugh Allen Limited, brokers of Victoria, to recover $15,000 damages from W. D. Lundy and E. A. Freeman, Calgary, as a result of deals in stock of Advance Oil Company, was dismissed here today by the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta.

In March, 1929, some of the shareholders of the Advance Oil Company formed a pool. Hugh Allen Limited, became members of the pool, the court was informed, and agreed to deliver 4,375 shares. Thinking the pool would pay $15 a share, the brokerage firm borrowed $51,000 from the Bank of Toronto and took up the Advance shares which were being held on margin. The brokerage company drew a draft for $51,000 on W. D. Lundy and attached the shares. Lundy and Freeman paid the draft took possession of the shares and refused to turn them into the pool.

Hugh Allen Limited, then sued Lundy and Freeman for $15,000, the difference between the $51,000 and what the shares would have brought at $15 each. Mr. Justice Ford, in the trial division, dismissed the appeal and his decision was upheld.

FIRE IN TRAIL

Trail, B.C., Nov. 6.—Loss of $5,000 was suffered by M. M. Butorac in a fire which destroyed the Butorac Motors' property here yesterday. In addition, the frame building, owned by a local syndicate, was a total loss. Four cars were lost.

Two Packages Of Cigarettes Cost Ratepayers $246

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Two packages of cigarettes, J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert estimates, cost Cook County $246.

He stood with a stop watch in his hand yesterday while the County Board of Commissioners debated the question of whether they should pay thirty cents for the two packages, the cost of which was listed on a bill for meals for a jury.

Mrs. Glenn Plumb, one of the commissioners, protested, contending cigarettes were not lunch.

After fifteen minutes' debate the commissioners decided they could not be expected to furnish smokes for jurors. "At the rate you commissioners and the stenographers and other employees are paid," Jacobs commented, "it cost the county $246, and that does not count the cost of heating this room."

Do just take a look at this property, located west of Cook and on the south side of Fort Street. This is a semi-business location which is growing in popularity. The lot is 60x120 feet, running clear through to Mears Street, and thus affords a back entrance which in itself is a valuable adjunct. At present there is a 5-room cottage rented at $25 per month, and this more than pays all charges, allowing the owner to hold the property for increased value in the future. Do not become suspicious at the price, there is no snag, as it is a genuine sacrifice. Terms will be given.

SOCIAL SURVEY WILL BE MADE

Charitable Organizations Sponsor Independent Investigation Into Over-lapping

Special Worker to Be Brought From Ottawa to Avoid Bias

The Canadian Council of Child and Family Welfare of Ottawa will be invited to conduct a survey of charitable organizations in Victoria and their activities. A well attended luncheon meeting of delegates from public bodies, held yesterday afternoon at Spencers Restaurant, unanimously instructed F. E. Winslow and his interim committee to carry on and apply for appointment of a special expert to study local conditions.

COST OF SURVEY

Considerable discussion arose concerning the necessity of bringing in an outside worker, several speakers supporting Harold Butteris, Gyro Club representative, in his advocacy of a local appointee.

Miss Lawson of the Friendly Help Association said her party of three had no authority to pledge action but the majority of the members favored an investigation by a local person.

Mr. Winslow occupied the chair and stated that the proposed survey would cost about $500, towards which about $200 had already been received from various organizations. The remainder could be secured from private donors, he was confident. The salary of the investigator would be paid by the Ottawa society, the local contributions being solely for expenses incurred.

Dr. H. E. Young warmly commended the proposed survey, asserting that huge sums were annually lost in Canada by reason of lack of organization.

Those attending the meeting were: Miss Sarah Spencer, Social Service League; Mrs. Arthur Walsh, Y.W.C.A.; Gene McLeod, Y.W.C.A.; Miss L. Holland, Deputy Superintendent Neglected Children; Miss Olive M. Snyder, Social Service League; Hew Paterson, Municipality of Oak Bay; C. F. L. Money, Army and Navy Veterans; F. Oke Smith, Toc H.; H. PILOT TO TRY TO BRING ILL MAN FROM FAR LAKE

Canadian Press

Prince Rupert, B.C., Nov. 6.—Robert Quinn, operator-lineman of the government telegraphs, stationed at Echo Lake, 100 miles north of Telegraph Creek, is reported to be critically ill. As this is the "between seasons," it is impossible to send relief either by dog train or pack horses.

Pilot Murphy, Prince Rupert, of the Northern British Columbia Airways, is preparing to fly to Echo Lake as soon as weather reports from the north are favorable. Late reports state there have been heavy snowstorms. Murphy is not familiar with the Echo Lake country, which is very rugged, but says he will "take a chance." He says he plans to land on the larger of two lakes and wait for Quinn, an elderly man, to be brought from Echo.

RADICALS OPPOSE FRENCH CABINET

Paris, Nov. 6.—Continued opposition to Premier Laval in the French Parliament was expressed yesterday in a resolution adopted by the Radical and Radical-Socialist Party at its convention here.

The resolution calls on radical deputies and senators to remain in opposition to the Laval cabinet as long as the government's majority in Parliament is unchanged.

The Radicals have been for the most part bitter opponents of Premier Laval and constitute a force to be reckoned with in case his present majority of about fifty in the Chamber of Deputies should be found wanting.

QUEBEC ASKING VOICE IN PLANS FOR ST. LAWRENCE

Canadian Press

Quebec, Nov. 6.—"Canada, in this period of depression, is not in a position to warrant the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars which would materially assist the United States to exploit millions of horse-power in the St. Lawrence River," Premier L. A. Taschereau stated yesterday during the debate on the address in reply to the Throne speech in the Quebec Legislative Assembly.

"We in Quebec," the Premier said, "are vitally interested in the St. Lawrence waterway, which is one of our natural heritages, and I feel this province has been slighted in its representatives not having been invited to attend these important deliberations and voice their opinions on a matter which is of vital concern to us.

"The St. Lawrence River is one of the great natural resources of the Province of Quebec. I see by the newspapers the United States is waiting for the Dominion Government to state its position. I think in this that the Province of Quebec should be consulted.

"I intend to ask the House to study this question during the session and bring down a resolution which will embody the stand which we will take on this important question."

NEW TRANSPORTATION LAWS

One of the most difficult situations confronting the province was the condition in which the two great railway systems found themselves, the Premier stated. The rapidly mounting monthly deficits could not go on indefinitely, he said. The difficulty was created largely by increased motor carriage of freight and passengers.

"I shall ask this House, during the session, to study this pressing problem with a view to bringing down some legislation which will restrain in some measure this motor traffic," the Premier said.

"Come, now, we want your real name."

"All right, A. Kamas."

"We said your real name."

"How about Pete Nelson?"

But the officers were insistent.

"You win," the driver said at last. "It is Astrinos Emanuel Kongrounmitzakos."

Put Confidence in Your Furrier

It is simply foolish to buy a Fur Coat unless you have implicit confidence in the furrier you may choose to buy from. Confidence is the whole thing, and without it life would not be worth while. The next time you want a FUR COAT come to FOSTER'S FUR STORE, their reputation as FURRIERS is top notch, and you pay for what you get, we do not over price in order to give big discounts. Our Fur Coats are priced just to give and show us a fair, legitimate profit, and these days our profit is very small due to the present conditions over which we have no control. Come in and see for yourself that our Coats are not priced too high.

Award of a valve contract to a British firm by the Victoria City Council is under review by federal and provincial relief work authorities. The city awarded the contract to a British firm at a figure much lower than any Canadian tender, but government officials claim the work should be given in Canada if possible to comply with the Relief Act.

Magistrate George Jay reserved his decision in City Police Court this morning on a move by W. C. Moresby, K.C., for dismissal of a charge against Lee Chong and Lee Kwan Shee, charged with possession of opium. All prosecution evidence is in, and Mr. Moresby asked for dismissal on grounds that while opium was found in premises tenanted by the accused, it did not belong to them and they did not know it was there.

ASK HOLIDAY FOR VETERANS

Armistice Day Committee Hopes Soldiers Will Be Given Day Off Wednesday

Crimson poppies, replicas of the flowers that bloom in the cemeteries along the old battle line, will appear on the city streets to-morrow.

Col. H. T. Goodland, C.B., D.S.O., who served in France and Flanders for nine years after the war as chief officer of the War Graves Commission, and was responsible for the construction of all British cemeteries, will direct operations. A corps of ladies and students from various schools will assist, and it is hoped that no citizen will fail to wear the flower of remembrance.

The community cross which will be constructed by citizens who will plant individual poppies on the frame, will be situated at the Bank of Montreal, Douglas and Yates Streets. Mrs. Mortimer Appleby and the Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be in attendance.

The Armistice Period Committee has endeavored to have November 11 observed as a holiday in Victoria in accordance with the provisions of the act which sets the day apart as one of remembrance. It is not likely that a general cessation of business will occur in the Dominion, but the committee feels that no veteran should be compelled to work on that day, and all employers are earnestly requested to grant veterans in their employ leave of absence for the day.

A commemoration service will be held at the Cenotaph on Wednesday morning, and the committee trusts that no veteran will be prevented from attending because of "business as usual."

TOLD DETECTIVE HE COULD SUPPLY HIM WITH DRUGS

Court Hears How Fred Cole Trapped By Sergeant of Mounted Police

Conviction Recorded in Opium Possession Case; Second Charge to Be Heard

Fred Cole was convicted by Magistrate George Jay this morning on a charge of unlawful possession of opium following a lengthy hearing in the City Police Court. A second charge, of selling the drug, is being heard this afternoon. Sentence on the first count was reserved.

At the hearing this morning the court was told how Detective Sergeant Llewellyn J. Black of the R.C.M.P. masqueraded under the name of "Joe Gale" and gained the confidence of Cole to trap him. R. A. Wootton prosecuted and H. A. Beckwith appeared for the defence.

Sergeant Black said he had been introduced to the accused by Edward Harrison, a special agent for the mounted police, and had spoken to him on the telephone on the night of October 16 asking him for drugs. A place of meeting was arranged.

"He asked me how much opium I wanted and I said 'five decks.' He said it would cost $6.50 for the Chinaman so I gave him marked bills and a fifty cent piece," said Sergt. Black. About an hour later the accused met witness again and asked if he had a place to smoke the opium.

A PLACE TO SMOKE

"I told him I had a place on View Street and he wanted to come up and have a smoke. We walked up Government Street and turned along View. Then I signaled to Sergeant Paton, who had followed us in the car and asked Cole for the package. He did not answer me. Then Sergeant Paton got out of the car and came toward us. The accused started to run but we caught him and he put up a fight and wouldn't let us touch his pockets. Constable Arthur Phipps came up and took hold of him and the three of us got into the car and went to police headquarters," witness said.

After Cole got out of the car at the police station a match box containing five decks of opium was found on the rear seat where the accused had been sitting. The accused stated he had "been framed," witness added.

"Cole said he liked my line and he thought I was all right, but told me he did not trust Harrison. I also made out I didn't trust Harrison," witness said.

"Cole told me he would not sell to me unless I showed him my pipe and introduced him to my partner and I had to make excuses about it. I met him during the races and let him think I was an opium smoker and a bit of a confidence man," he concluded.

When taken to the police station the accused said "Joe's framed me," he testified.

Sergeant Paton said the car used was a "drive yourself," and had nothing on the rear seat before Cole was put there.

Cole was the main defence witness. He said he met Harrison six or eight months ago and played the piano for him while he sang at a smoker.

Cole said he had used opium himself some years ago but had cured himself of the habit. He then gave his version of the night he was arrested.

"I was in the Veterans of France Club and Harrison told me Gale was on the phone and wanted to speak to me. I went to the phone and Gale (Sergeant Black) said he wanted to get 'some stuff.' I said I could not get any but was going down to Chinatown for some noodles and would be passing by the New England. He met me there but I refused to get anything for him. Finally he shoved $2.50 into my hand and went away," Cole said.

SAYS POLICE GRABBED HIM

"After I had my noodles I went back up town and ran into Black. He walked with me for a while and then the car drove up behind and the two of them tried to get into my pockets. I would not let them, but then Constable Phipps came up and put me in the car. After I got out at the police station they searched me and did not find anything but went back to the car and brought out the match box."

Accused said he did not put the match box in the car. One marked dollar bill was found on him and he said he must have changed the other when paying for his noodles.

Ernest Turner was the only other defence witness, testifying he had been with Cole one night when Harrison had "pestered" him. Cole had told Harrison to "get away and stay away," he said.

Edward Harrison, special agent for the Mounted Police, said he had talked to Cole one night and Cole told him he could not get any cocaine or morphine, but could get him some opium but had no place to smoke it.

Mr. Beckwith moved for dismissal on the grounds that it was highly improbable Cole would have taken into his confidence a man introduced to him by Harrison, who he had been told was a police agent.

Magistrate Jay went over the various angles of the case and stated he would have to believe the story of the police officer in view of the circumstances.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO ACT PLAY

"That's One on Bill" to Be Presented By Cathedral A.Y.P.A. To-night

A three-act play entitled "That's One on Bill," will be presented this evening in the Memorial Hall, commencing at 8 o'clock, by the Dramatic Club of the Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. The play is by Lilian Mortimer and deals with the efforts of a girl to persuade her younger brother to marry the girl his rich uncle stipulates. The introduction of a third girl to bring in the "eternal triangle," and her influence over the men, and particularly over the betrothed of the sister, brings about many amusing incidents which all go to make up a very interesting play.

Brian Green takes the leading role of Bill and has the support of Edward Slater, Albert Smith, George White and Jack Aylwin in the other male characters. Margaret Reif is Patricia Niles, the "third person." Betty Shaw, Margaret Overton, Shirley Maynard and Dola Greaves take the other female parts.

OPEN STEEL PLANT AT PORT KEMBLA

A. S. Hoskins and S. T. Merrett of Australian Iron & Steel Co. Visit Here

Australian industrialists reaching Victoria to-day by the Niagara from Sydney were A. S. Hoskins, director of the Australian Iron and Steel Company, and S. T. Merrett, chief engineer of the plant at Port Kembla.

The Australian Iron and Steel company, which has been producing steel at Lithgow in New South Wales since 1908, recently opened its new plant at Port Kembla, where production is being developed on a big scale.

Australia has experienced rough going industrially during the last two years, but there are now distinct indications of business improvement, Mr. Hoskins stated. He ventured the opinion that the Commonwealth, despite the adversity it has had to contend with, will come out on top. The states of Victoria, Queensland, South Australia and West Australia are coming back in good shape and New South Wales is not far behind.

Wheat in Australia, it was stated, is worth three shillings a bushel, virtually equaling the price of Canadian wheat. At its peak Australian wheat has fetched four shillings. The price of wool is also higher.

New South Wales, said Mr. Hoskins, does not seriously propose to repudiate its debts, and if it did, the burden would have to be borne by the Commonwealth government.

Mr. Hoskins, with Mr. Merrett, is proceeding to London on company business, and will be away from Australia several months.

The steel plant operated by the company supplies steel for general construction and shipbuilding trades as well as railways for the whole of Australasia.

NEGRO WORKS DESCRIBED

College Literary Society Told About Negro Poetry and Play "Green Pastures"

Miss Jeannette A. Cann of the English Department of Victoria College, and Miss Margaret Clay of the Victoria Public Library were guest speakers at a meeting of the Victoria College Literary Society held yesterday evening at the Craigdarroch Institution. Cyril Chave, president of the society, occupied the chair.

Miss Cann in her talk on "The Modern Negro and Culture," told her audience that the negro of to-day is vastly different from the negro in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." To-day, among negroes were university graduates, who looked upon the negro dialect in literature as a pose. He thought of himself as a writer of English rather than negro poetry. The speaker told of the different attitudes expressed by the earlier negro writers and those of to-day. To-day their attitude was one of satisfaction and assurance instead of the former defiance.

Miss Margaret Clay told the large student-audience of Marcus Connally's play, "Green Pastures," which is having such marked success on Broadway. The author knew intimately the negro whom he portrays, the speaker stated, and characterized his beliefs successfully.

In closing Miss Clay described the actors and the music. She told of the difficulties in putting the show on the road, and described the play as the best she had ever seen.

SUGGESTED B.C. ROAD CAMPS BE KEPT OPEN

Dominion Labor Minister Makes Proposal at Conference With B.C. Ministers

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Expenditures on highway construction by the province of British Columbia were the subjects of discussion at a somewhat lengthy conference this afternoon and evening between Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, representing the Pacific Coast province, and Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce of the Dominion.

At the conclusion of the conference Senator Robertson gave a brief outline of what had taken place. Information was given that the province of British Columbia had spent $3,000,000 on its highway programme since last August. That amount, Senator Robertson said, the federal government considered too much. The provincial ministers were informed the highways programme of British Columbia had been approved by the federal government to the extent of $3,250,000, of which the federal proportion was $1,625,000. That was the amount which the Dominion was prepared to furnish.

PLAN FOR CAMPS

It was suggested by Senator Robertson during the course of the conference that British Columbia might arrange to keep open the camps which have been established in connection with the road work in various parts of the province. To these camps might be taken single men from the crowded urban centres. They would receive their board and wages. Simultaneously the programme of municipal works, for which provision had been made, might proceed, employment on these works being confined to married men. In this way married men would be enabled to live with their families while employed on municipal works. Rural dwellers, who had already been given a measure of employment under the relief programme, should not be included in the proposal to provide for single men in the camps.

The ministers from British Columbia had no statement to make when they emerged from the office of the Minister of Labor at the conclusion of the conference. It was understood Mr. Jones would leave for the west, while Mr. Bruhn would remain in the east for a few days.

LAST WEEK'S STATEMENT

Last week Senator Robertson announced the sub-committee of the cabinet had approved the programme of municipal works for unemployment relief in British Columbia amounting to $2,536,713. Of that total the federal government's part was $1,268,356. The road programme was approximately cut in half. In addition to this and to the roads programme already mentioned, it was announced purely federal works to the value of $265,000 had been authorized and would be carried out in British Columbia.

FIJI LOOKS FOR CANADA TRADE

Tariff Policy Right to Develop Pineapple Business, Says Commander B. L. Hewitt

"We hope to develop the pineapple trade with Canada, as the tariff policy here is right with us," declared Commander B. L. Hewitt, managing director of the Fijian Pineapple Company, on his arrival in Victoria to-day aboard the liner Niagara from Auckland, N.Z. He is accompanied by C. S. White, also connected with the Fijian Pineapple Company.

Commander Hewitt said he expected to meet trade interests while in Canada and make business contacts. The growing of pineapples in the Fiji Islands is more or less in the experimental stage, but the climate is right and production is expected to develop at a rapid rate.

The Fijian Pineapple Company controls large areas of pineapple plantations on the Fiji Islands and modern canneries are operated for the marketing of the fruit.

The company caters to the home market in New Zealand and Australia, but is seeking to build up its market with Canada and Great Britain.

ORCHESTRA TO LOSE LEADER

Karl Kreuger Resigns From Seattle Symphony; Financial Reasons

Seattle, Nov. 6—Karl Krueger, conductor of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra which he organized five years ago with the co-operation of the Seattle Musicians' Association, yesterday tendered his resignation to Reginald H. Parsons, president of the orchestra. It is to become effective at the end of the present fiscal year. Lack of adequate financial backing which prevents further growth of the orchestra is given by Mr. Krueger as his reason for stepping out.

The letter says in part:

"My decision is based upon the realization that further expansion of the orchestra's activities is out of the question under the present system of financing it. During my five years tenure of the conductorship the Seattle Symphony Orchestra has taken its place among the major orchestras of the country. To maintain its present standard and to grow, the orchestra must have financial backing of a kind which the city seems either unwilling or unable to give it. I am unwilling to remain in a situation which thus limits the growth of the orchestra and jeopardizes its present excellence.

"My work in Seattle has been a pleasure and I shall always cherish the memory of this lovely city and of my dear friends in it."

At the present time the orchestra association is endeavoring to raise $30,000 to meet the expenses of the orchestra for the current season.

PLAINS FARMERS SIGN NOTES FOR DOMINION AID

Loan Basis Found Only Acceptable One in Dried-out Saskatchewan Areas

Total Expected to Be Above $5,000,000; Three Men on Board

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Many farmers in the drought-stricken areas of southern Saskatchewan refused to accept assistance from the Dominion Government except on a loan basis. The government, therefore, is getting notes from all the people who receive assistance in the seventy-one municipalities affected. Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, made this explanation to-day in reply to statements which have been made that whereas the general impression in the country was that the aid was given outright, as a matter of fact it was in the nature of loans.

Many farmers in the dried-out areas own their farms without encumbrance. They had first wanted to have the government assist through the Farm Loan Board, as it was impossible to obtain mortgages. The government decided against that, however, and it was decided notes would be preferable to mortgages.

Although it is too early to estimate with any degree of accuracy the extent of assistance that will be required in the drought districts, it will likely run over $5,000,000. At present the three men supervising the relief work, John Strain, Clive Burke and Thomas Graham, all expert frmers, re studying the whole situation, and among other things are to decided the amount and kind of seed for next season.

NOV. 11 IS TO BE OBSERVED IN ALL CANADA

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 6—Remembrance Day stands in the same position as July 1, Labor Day, Christmas Day and New Year's Day. As it is a holiday established by legislation, there is no necessity for the Governor-General to proclaim the day as a holiday. Neither is it necessary for any provincial or municipal authority to proclaim a holiday.

The intention is that Remembrance Day shall be observed in the same way as Armistice Day has been in the past. The desire of the government is that Remembrance Day "be observed and honored throughout the country."

In an official statement issued late yesterday, these declarations were made to avoid uncertainty in the matter. Answering inquiries which have been received by departments of the government, the official statement read:

"A large number of inquiries have been made to many departments of the government with respect to the observance of Remembrance Day and the Secretary of State of Canada considers it advisable to make a public statement in order to avoid uncertainty in the matter.

"By legislation of the last session of Parliament, November 11 was fixed as a public holiday and described as Remembrance Day. There is no difference between holidays as set out in the Interpretation Act."

Ex-Police Court Clerk's Trial Is Set For Spring

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—Instructions have been received from the Attorney-General by F. G. T. Lucas, K.C., prosecutor at the assizes here, to traverse to the spring court a charge of theft against Earl E. Robinson, dismissed police court clerk of Vancouver.

However in the face of the Attorney-General's wish in the matter and Mr. Justice Gregory's already expressed opinion that he should not interfere, there does not appear any likelihood of the case being heard at this assize session.

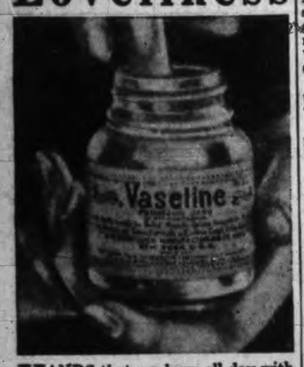
First aid to Loveliness



HANDS that are busy all day with dishpans and typewriters and golf clubs can be kept lovely as any idler's by massaging with "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly and wearing old cotton or silk gloves overnight. Even one such treatment shows results.

Eyes, like mirrors, are strictly useful always, but only ornamental when beautifully framed. A little "Vaseline" Jelly applied to the eyelashes every night encourages growth. A little applied to eyebrows with a small brush will keep them shapely and smooth. Do try it.

Skin! What crimes we commit against it every day! Exposing it alternately to heat and cold, to dryness and to water. Let "Vaseline" Jelly help keep it fine and smooth. Apply it liberally to soothe all irritations such as windburn, chapping, sunburn, minor cuts, scratches, etc. Helps prevent scars or scaliness. This is such a simple way to give your beauty first aid, and so safe, too, that you should always have a supply of "Vaseline" Jelly handy. Get a jar today.

And remember when you buy, that the trade-mark "Vaseline" on the label is your assurance that you are getting the genuine product of the Chesebrough Manufacturing Co., Cons'd, 5520 Chabot Ave., Montreal, Canada.

WAREHOUSING IS OUTLINED

Rotary Club Hears of Modern Methods Used in Storage and Moving Industry

Past Service Member Explains Value of Service Club at Luncheon

An insight into modern methods in the storage and warehousing business was given Rotarians in a classification talk by John Crann at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday following Mr. Crann, H. Vincent, a past service member, explained why he retained his contacts with the movement, outlining some of the valuable work conducted by the service club.

In the United States and Canada storage and cartage companies formed an industry valued at between $95,000,000 and $100,000,000, Mr. Crann said. It used vast amounts of gasoline, tires and paper among other things, which kept mills and other industries going.

Mr. Crann outlined the various materials stored in commercial warehouses. He showed how shipments coming to Victoria and refused by firms in this city could be put away in storage houses.

SERVICE TO SHIPPER

By means of special guides, manufacturers in New York could ship out carloads of goods straight into Victoria warehouses. This was made possible through big organizations in the United States and Canada. These bodies demanded an exceptionally high standard before they would endorse storage companies which, as a result, had a splendid reputation for service.

It was the storage man who kept the shipper informed on the transportation of goods.

Much good work in the way of business reports was done by company officials. They were exceptionally good contact men for all firms they dealt with, he declared.

SPECIALIZED INDUSTRY

The furniture storage and shipping business was a highly-specialized industry, conducted on very efficient lines. In it, as in the other branch of the industry, storagemen came into contact with many different types of people, Mr. Crann continued. He outlined some of the humorous incidents he had experienced in his business.

Modern methods were exceptionally speedy and furnished splendid service, the speaker concluded.

APPRECIATES ROTARY

Speaking on the subject: "Why I Am Still a Rotarian," H. Vincent, a past service member, reminded the gathering that before a man was admitted to the Rotary Club, he had to be engaged in a business which occupied 60 per cent of his time. But recently, Rotary International had passed a motion to let those not in that employment continue in the membership, provided they had been in the organization for at least five years.

Rotary furnished a fellowship and educational interest which appealed to him, the speaker said. He also expressed his appreciation of the aims of Rotary.

As an international organization, it furnished a "homey" atmosphere for the traveler in a strange city.

The value of the Rotary activities in the crippled children and boys' work fields was stressed by Mr. Vincent, who outlined some of the work done by the Nelson Club along these lines.

With all these idealistic aims being followed in a tangible way, it was quite apparent why he was still a Rotarian, he concluded.

Langford

An enjoyable card party was held at the Women's Institute Hall on Wednesday evening. Visitors from Luxton and Happy Valley were welcomed and five tables were in play. Mrs. J. M. Ritchie carried off the twenty-pound sack of sugar, and Mrs. A. Cowie the box of fancy biscuits, both these prizes had been donated. A. B. Cuthbertson won the gentlemen's prize for the highest score, and H. F. Dack the consolation. Choice chrysanthemums adorned the supper table, the refreshments being supplied by Mrs. P. N. Welch, Mrs. E. H. Phipps, Mrs. A. B. Cuthbertson and Mrs. R. J. Smith.

Mrs. Robertson of Vancouver is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. Moore, Peatt Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Michelin with their three children are occupying "Lafalot" at Langford Lake.

Langford district Girl Guides will meet at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in the school.

Choir practice will be held in St. Matthew's Church this evening at 7 o'clock. There will be no Junior W.A. meeting held this week.

Okanagan Warns Of Apple Shortage

Vernon, B.C., Nov. 6.—A cursory survey of apple stocks in storage in the valley and at outside points by some of the shippers who were forced to guess in some instances is that there are not over 1,000 cars of apples. One or two place the figure at 750. It is anticipated there will not be enough apples to supply the demand before summer comes again.

The indications are that the bulk movement resulted in apples going into consumption which, had they been held, might have shown some of the breakdown which in previous years caused so much worry and expense to all. Washington stocks are also down from the original estimates. For the first time in years, sales agencies are withdrawing quotations when not promptly snapped up by those to whom they are offered.

Prices were moved up on Wednesday as a reflection of the demand and the stocks in store.

Wheat Prices Firm Late In Session On Substantial Buying

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—Late absorption of heavy selling carried future prices up to within fractions of their previous close on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. The market broke sharply during early trading with the receipt of weaker cables and active selling left quotations sagging badly.

At the close, however, November was down only ⅛ at 70¾; December ¼ to ⅛ at 70⅝ to 71; May unchanged to ⅛ lower at 74¾ and July ¼ to ⅜ at 75⅝.

The session was marked by a limited export market and somewhat mixed sentiment. The greater part of trading came through commission houses, working on both sides of the market.

The weakened Liverpool market combined with tardy buying here started prices on their early slide to the lower side. Once there, however, substantial buying became active and values to creep slowly but steadily upward. Hedging against the new crop Australian wheat was blamed for Liverpool declines.

Trading in cash wheat was slow, though Numbers 1 and 4 Northern were in fair demand at spread ¼ cent better.

Actual sales of coarse grains were again confined mostly to oats and barley for domestic use.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—Wheat: After breaking 2⅝ cents at the start, the market again staged a good comeback, prices coming within a half cent of the close last night, only to ease off again. At the start there was heavy selling by way of liquidation, the market running into stop-loss selling, all of which was based on the weakness in Liverpool, and with little or no export business worked overnight.

On the break the market met excellent support, but largely from commission houses, but mixed with small buying by one or two export houses. The offerings were quite light, after the first half hour, and on the setbacks commission houses continued to be good buyers, causing a firm market.

There was just a fair demand for cash wheat, offerings were light and actually there was not much wheat changing hands. Seaboard reported a pause in foreign buying of important quantities of North American grain, was indicated generally in leading export circles, business overnight being the smallest in some time, although a fair inquiry reported at slightly under the market.

A London cable stated that Russia was again chartering for December shipment. On the other hand, another London cable quoted the Luboff Anti-Soviet News Bureau, saying the financial position of Russia was very precarious, credits difficult to obtain, with five-year plan in jeopardy and officials pessimistic over problem of winter supplies, food and fuel. Acute grain collection position serious.

Broomhall reported that harvesting has commenced in the early districts of New South Wales, with yields reported to be above expectations and the quality excellent. Buenos Aires on-day received first shipment from new wheat crop from the province of Santiago del Estere. Sterling was strong, being quoted at 380.

Winnipeg closed ¼ lower to unchanged.

Coarse grains: There was not a great deal going on in these markets. A fair domestic trade in oats and barley was reported, but no export business was confirmed. There was some investment buying in rye.

Oats closed unchanged to ⅛ lower, barley, ⅞ to 1⅛ lower, and rye, 1 cent higher to ½ lower.

Liverpool due 1⅛ to 1½ higher, based on Winnipeg.

CHICAGO

(By Logan & Bryan)

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Wheat: The market sold off sharply early and made a substantial recovery in late trade, closing figures being only about half cent under previous high marks. The early decline was due largely to weak cables, with reports of increased pressure from Argentine and Australian shippers. Crop conditions are generally favorable in the southern hemisphere.

London reports said there were reports of very precarious financial conditions in Russia with that country cancelling orders for materials and supplies in Germany.

Export trade has been checked by the recent upturn, but cash prices continue to hold firm, and there has been a strong undertone in southwest cash markets in spite of the larger receipts recently. Liverpool closed 1⅞ to 2¼ lower. Primary receipts were smaller than a year ago, and there is no pressure of northwest arrivals.

The reaction to-day was not unexpected or unnatural, and it was significant that on the setbacks there was excellent buying. The reaction puts the market in better technical position. Look for good price swings and continued activity, and would buy on all setbacks.

Corn: The cash demand was rather slow, and the advance in prices has increased country to some extent. Country bookings were around 100,000 bushels. Receipts were a little larger here at 188 cars estimated, but primary receipts were still much smaller than a year ago.

Weather continues dry. The market was given good support on the setbacks, and recovered its early losses. On the setbacks think corn can be bought.

Oats: Were given good support on the decline, and acted well considering the weakness in other grains early. General position of oats has been strong, and oats seems sound investment.

Rye: Reacted with other grains early, but came back strong later. The cash demand is fair, and there are export possibilities for any surplus of ours, if we have any which is doubtful. Look for increasing activity with purchases suggested on the setbacks.

WHOLESALE PRICES SHOW FIRST RISE

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—For the first time since August, 1929, index number of wholesale prices shows an advance, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. The report shows a fractional gain from 70.0 in September to 70.4 in October. In August, 1929, the index stood at 98.4.

Vegetable products rose from 54.6 to 56.0, higher quotations for barley, oats rye and wheat influencing the index more than declines for corn, flour and potatoes. Non-ferrous metals and their products moved up from 60.2 to 62.9, because of price advances for electrolytic copper, lead, silver, tin and zinc.

MONTREAL FIRMS IN FINAL HOUR

Base Metal Issues Provide Feature of Trading Interest, Smelters Gaining Sixteen

Canadian Press

Montreal, Nov. 6. — The Montreal Stock Market was firmer in the final hour to-day in response to better tone of the wheat market following its early period of unsettlement and weakness to-day. The market as a whole was less active and the movement more restrained than in earlier sessions of the week.

The feature of the day was the strength in in metal stocks, chiefly in the base metal producers.

Smelters sold up 16 points on the day to the high and closing price of 85, and 20 points above the minimum price still ruling on this stock. International Nickel advanced ¾ to 12¼.

A feature of interest was the appearance of Montreal Power in substantial blocks at 38, its pegged price.

TORONTO MINES ALSO BUOYANT

Interlisted and Silver Stocks Most Active on List, Scoring Gains

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Stock prices, somewhat irregular in light turnover in the forenoon, developed buoyancy under brisk demand on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange in the afternoon to-day. Interlisted stocks and silver shares provided the leadership, with higher-priced golds lagging.

Nipissing gained another 15, Eldorado 12, Mining Corp. 13, Castle a couple and Cobalt Contract nearly a cent.

More important golds were merely holding, but Bidgood, Ventures, Sylvanite and McLeod River were up two to three cents.

International Nickel and Noranda softened toward mid-day, but rallied briskly in the last hour. Base Metals was in good demand and 32 higher, and Sudbury Basin firmed five.

OPTIMISM IN BERLIN MARKET

Canadian Press

Berlin, Nov. 6.—The Bourse continued closed to-day but private transactions "across the counter" showed a hopeful feeling reflecting Wall Street optimism on Dawes and Young Plan loans, which was interpreted as indicating a return of confidence in Germany and in the stability of the market. The cheerfulness extended to the industrial market in which business showed a distinct revival.

Injured Passengers From Train Wreck Doing Well

Twelve in Hospital Following Mishap on Canadian National Lines Yesterday Evening Near Winnipeg; Two May Have Fractured Skulls and One Loses an Eye

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—Victims of the wreck of The National, Canadian National Railway crack train for Toronto, near here yesterday evening, were reported doing as well as could be expected at the hospital here this morning. Twelve persons were injured and all are expected to recover, although two have possible fractures of the skull and one a possible fracture of a vertebra. The patients were X-rayed to-day to determine the extent of their injuries.

The train ran over a broken rail seventeen miles east of Winnipeg early yesterday evening with the result that seven of the ten coaches went crashing off the track and turned on their sides in the ditch.

George Whitworth, no address given, suffered the loss of an eye, the injured optic being removed at the hospital today. Others who suffered more serious injuries were Clement Pettipas, Toronto, possible fractured skull; William Horton, Liscomb, N.S., possible fractured skull, and J. C. Carr, Port Dalhousie, Ont., possible fractured vertebra.

By a fortunate coincidence there were two trained nurses on the train who rendered first aid to the injured, pending arrival of doctors. A relief train was rushed at once from Winnipeg to bring passengers back.

COAST LUMBER SHIPMENTS UP

Business For Last Week of October Shows Big Gain Over Week Before

Seattle, Nov. 6.—New business taken by 224 mills reporting to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ended October 31 showed an increase of 21 per cent or 15,900,000 board feet, over the total for the previous week, the association said today.

The increase was the largest percentage gain from one week to another in recent months. Each market classification, the rail trade, domestic cargo and export, shared in the gain.

Operations for a total of 344 mills for the same week were at 30.2 per cent of capacity, compared to 31.9 per cent for the preceding week and 44.8 for the same week last year.

Nebraska In To-day With General Cargo From Europe Ports

With 175 tons of general cargo for discharge at this port, the Royal Mail Steam Packet vessel Nebraska docked at the Rithet piers this morning at 11 o'clock from London, by way of the Panama Canal and San Francisco. She left the Golden Gate port on Tuesday at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. She was expected to clear for Vancouver at 4 o'clock.

Capt. E. A. Bridges, master of the ship, reported a good trip out from England, although the weather from San Francisco north had been a bit rough. Coming up the Straits from Cape Flattery this morning the ship was slightly delayed by a thick fog that hung low over the water.

The Nebraska is one of the largest ships operated in the Pacific Coast-Europe trade by the company. She is registered at 8,263 tons, has a length of 450 feet, a breadth of fifty-eight feet and a depth of thirty-seven feet. She was built at the Workman, Clarke and Company shipbuilding plant at Belfast in 1920, and is registered in London. With large refrigerator space the Nebraska carries much perishable cargo between the Pacific Coast ports and Europe.

Party of Grocers From England Is Visiting Canada

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Great Britain is using every effort to promote inter-empire trade, in the opinion of C. L. T. Beeching, O.B.E., of London, England, who is in charge of the party of apprentice grocers from England now touring eastern Canada over Canadian Pacific lines, as guests of the Dominion Government's Department of Trade and Commerce.

"In line with this movement in Britain to-day is the Empire Marketing Board," said Mr. Beeching. "The board's chief object is to promote trade in England in Empire products. Canadian apples now hold a splendid reputation and are increasing in sales, while the same is true of canned salmon and imported beef from Canada."

Mr. Beeching, who is a member of both the retail grocers' advisory board and the food products' committee, stated that the members of the apprentice party had visited with profit numerous food production plants. They left yesterday evening for Montreal and will sail for England on the liner Montclare.

NIAGARA HAD ROUGH VOYAGE FROM HONOLULU

Docked This Morning and Spent Two Hours Here on Way to Vancouver

Brought in Only Light List of Passengers; Pure-bred Sheep Among Cargo

Reporting extremely rough weather on the Pacific, between Honolulu and Cape Flattery, Capt. T. V. Hill brought the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara alongside the Rithet piers this morning at 7 o'clock from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu.

The ship proceeded to Vancouver shortly after 9 o'clock, backing out into a thick fog that was commencing to settle down over the water. It is probable her run to Vancouver was delayed, although she was expected there at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Other than the lap of the three-week voyage from Honolulu to this port, the trip was a fine one, the weather from Sydney north to Honolulu being marked by placid seas and warm winds. The ship left Sydney October 15. She will remain in Vancouver until next Wednesday, when she will depart on her return trip "down under," calling at Victoria in the late afternoon.

The Niagara brought in only a small list of passengers this voyage. There were seventy-eight in all classes, including thirty-nine in the first cabin, twenty-two in the second and seventeen in the third. Several passengers from all classes disembarked at this port, and left this afternoon aboard the steamer Princess Marguerite for Seattle. A party of Hawaiians en route to San Francisco from Honolulu were among those who left here.

BUSINESS MEN

Among the passengers aboard were: A. S. Hoskins, director of the Australian Iron and Steel Company of Sydney; S. T. Merrett, chief engineer with tthe same company; S. M. Grime, assistant manager of the Amalgamated Wireless Agency of Australia, with headquarters at Sydney; F. H. Jones, Australian representative of the Commercial Investment Trust Company; B. L. Hewitt and C. S. White of the Fijilian Pineapple Company of Auckland, and A. C. Moysey, prominent wool buyer of Chicago, returning from a business trip to Australia and New Zealand with Mrs. Moysey, and B. R. Bayless, sales manager of the Texas Oil Company of Australia.

Live cargo aboard the Niagara this trip were eleven pure-bred sheep from high-class ranches of Australia, en route to United States farms. They were given special accommodation in big crates on the upper deck, immediately aft the captain's cabin, and made the trip interesting for the passengers, who visited their favorites every day. They were not worried by the rough weather and came through it all in fine shape.

THREE KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE IS DESTROYED

Newark-to-Washington Machine Nose Dives and Passengers Burned to Death

Camden, N.J., Nov. 6.—Five men—two pilots and three passengers—were burned to death when a Newark-to-Washington passenger airliner, manoeuvring for a landing at the Campden Airport yesterday evening plummeted into the soft turf of a nearby golf course and burst into flames.

Something went wrong—an investigation to-day hoped to fix the responsibility—and the plane dropped like lead, its nose burying itself in two feet of earth. Flames wrapped about the wrecked liner as it struck the earth, driving back hundreds of persons who sped to the rescue of the crash victims.

Terrific heat made rescue work impossible, and the bodies of the victims could not be reached until the Pensauken fire department had extinguished the flames.

At the controls of the ship was Floyd Cox, a veteran flier with more than 3,000 hours of flying experience. In the cabin behind were Vernon Lucas, a fellow pilot going back to his Washington home after a flight to New York; Elmer Smith, advertising manager of The Washington Herald; George B. Taylor, director of the laboratory divison of the Chestnut Farms Dairy in Washington, and Francis R. Ehle of Riverton, N.J., president of the International Resistance Company.

All were burned beyond recognition, although none were crushed. Cox had his hand on the stick, apparently having died desperately striving to save the lives of himself and his charges.

The plane, a low-winged Lockheed Orion monoplane owned by a subsidiary of the Ludington Lines, had left Newark, N.J., at 5.45 p.m. for Washington. It was operating on a sixty-two-minute schedule.

Emma Alexander In Yesterday Evening

Making one of her fastest trips this year the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Emma Alexander docked at the Rithet piers yesterday evening shortly after 9 o'clock from San Diego, Los Angeles harbor and San Francisco. She proceeded to Seattle at mignight.

Among the passengers who left the liner here were J. H. Taylor, assistant to the manager of the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R., accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, returning to their home here after a short vacation trip to San Francisco and Los Angeles; R. S. Beswick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn, James Dumma, Mrs. J. Dumma, Mrs. R. E. Hamans, Miss W. Haynes, Mrs. L. Morrell, Mrs. L. V. Muskett, Miss Janet McPherson, R. K. MacKenzie, Fred J. Patton of Port Alberni, Capt. B. E. Rudderham, Miss A. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. M. Weinstein, Mrs. M. J. Whitmore, Mrs. D. M. Wilson, H. E. Warren, J. H. Warren and H. H. Kellner.

Fog Holds Up Shipping At San Francisco

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—The largest shipment of California fresh grapes ever made to the Orient left here today on the President Coolidge. Seven carloads of grapes from the San Joaquin Valley are being shipped by a local firm acting as agents for the California Fruit Exchange.

The shipment is destined for delivery at Manila, Iloilo, Cebu, Yokohama, Shanghai, Tientsin, Chefoo, Taingtao, Hongkong, Saigon and other Oriental and tropical ports.

The shipment is from Fresno and Exeter, mainly. The Coolidge also is carrying a large shipment of California celery, lettuce, cauliflower and onions.

Fog, such as one sees in spooky movies, enveloped San Francisco Bay and vicinity yesterday and badly hampered shipping. The fog was of the Tule variety.

Ferry boats were delayed as much as an hour in crossing the bay, making thousands of commuters living in the east bay district late to work in San Francisco.

Two Japanese liners, each bearing large cargoes, were held up in the stream of the bay, and there were several near collisions. Two ferry boats bumped each other on the Oakland side, but there was no damage and nobody was hurt.

Federal control over intercoastal shipping will be established unless the lines participating in the trade are able to reach a mutual agreement on rates by February 2, Charles L. Wheeler, official of the McCormick Steamship Company predicted to-day when he returned from New York. A lengthy conference was held in the east regarding a reorganization of the lines, but nothing definite was accomplished, he said.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

CHAPTER XIX

"The Fly!" Mary repeated, horror-sticken. Terror, like a creeping paralysis, began to close in on her faculties. But she hesitated only the fraction of a minute. The footsteps were coming nearer. She began to talk in hushed, conversational tones:

"Bermuda, I think, though it's hardly the season, but Europe takes too long, and besides," she shrugged lightly, "it's frightful to be bride and groom on one of those transatlantic boats; you couldn't be more conspicuous honeymooning at the Ritz. The orchestra plays at you and they put you at the captain's table and turn spotlights on you and otherwise make you wish you'd died before you were born—"

She continued talking as the man brushed by their table and was hidden from sight by the angle of the wall. Only then did she let her eyes stray from her companion's, and then they were cool and incurious.

Bowen clapped his hands silently, and made her a small bow.

"Swell!" he chuckled. "Go to the head of the class, Gloria Swanson!"

Mary was dumbfounded. She leaned out and looked after the man who had passed, and saw the large bulk of Jack Shay moving majestically toward the front of the room. She sank back, weak with reaction.

"You fooled me!" she accused, furiously. "Why?"

Bowen was instantly grave.

"Because this is serious business we're undertaking and I had to know how you'd act in a pinch. You were perfect."

"Was I?" She was slightly mollified by his praise.

"You were. Now let's get down to business. Here's what I'd suggest—"

Shay, returning past their table, gave Mary a long look and said, "Hello!" He put his hands on the table between them, looked from one to the other searchingly. "I see your little shake-up this afternoon didn't bother you!"

"Oh, not in the least!" Mary gave him her most winning smile.

"Jack, do you know Miss Harkness?" Bowen said.

"Sure, we got acquainted this afternoon." Shay was obviously turning over in his mind what connection there was between this afternoon's accident, this girl, and the man she was with. Reluuctantly he dragged his eyes away from the girl and turned to Bowen. "How you been?"

"Never better," Bowen beamed. "Nothing out of the way about that accident, was there? Miss Harkness has very kindly been giving me a story about it."

"Nah, nah, nah!" Shay's denial was exaggeratedly positive. "Just a wild truck driver tryin' to beat the lights by sneakin' through on a one-way street."

"You were very kind. I want to thank you," Mary told him. "Have you heard how the taxi driver is?"

"He's all right. He was around here again, drivin' a new cab already. Must've been insured."

When he had waddled off, Mary whispered. "Was it wise to tell him my name? Won't he tell them—in there?" nodding toward the private dining room.

"Maybe. But he'd be mighty suspicious if I held out on him. He's not sure about that crack-up yet. I'd have met you somewhere else if I'd known about that. Oh, well,—what the heck—"

* * *

Just then Mary saw Dirk coming toward them between the tables. He was in dinner jacket, a light topcoat over his arm. Her heart turned over and began to race madly at the sight of him. He was so tall, so erect, so distinguished-looking for a young man; there was something at once gentle and strong about the dark, lean face she loved so well. But he was also absurdly, stiffly proud. Mary could see that he was angry, even before he saw them. And when his eyes found them in their darkish corner, a flash of displeasure crossed his face.

Mary had forgotten about the black dinner dress; she did not realize how delectable she looked in it, or how intimately tete-a-tete and festive they appeared to the casual eye. Until that minute she had not felt herself blameworthy in the least, but immediately a dozen reasons for his displeasure occurred to her. She was flushed and awkwardly conscious of having offended him, when he reached her side.

He spoke brusquely to Bowen, avoiding her eyes.

"Ready to go?" he said, without sitting down.

"Oh, not yet. Can't you sit down a moment? There's so much to tell you—"

He drew up a chair. "All right, let's hear it," he said, without changing expression.

Mary puckered her brow. "You're angry about something. Didn't you get my message?"

"No. I didn't get your message. They told me at the house you'd gone, but no one knew where. Spence happened to find this slip of paper beside the telephone, so I took a chance and came here." He laid on the table the slip on which the address of Shay's was written.

"But I called up your office and told the bookkeeper to tell you where I was! He said you'd be back. I thought you could call for me, and—you were going to be late, so I thought I'd—come to meet you, sort of." She stumbled over it, surprised how lame it sounded.

"I didn't go back. Dropped everything and went home, thinking we might go out elsewhere and party around a while."

"Oh, I'm so sorry!"

"It's all right." But he did not unbend. Had she really been thoughtless, or was he absurdly childish? She was too much in love to arrive at the right answer at once.

"That's why I dressed up," she said, indicating the black dress. "I thought we might, too."

"Well," he said, "shall we go?" Beyond his curt greeting he had not given Bowen a second glance. Mary flushed with embarrassment.

"You're not being quite—polite, are you?" she said sharply. "Mr. Bowen has some information you ought to hear, if you've time to listen."

* * *

He turned a politely attentive face toward the newspaperman, who slowly dragged himself up to an erect position in his chair, crushed out cigarette, and rested his folded arms on the table before speaking.

"The murderer of Mrs. Jupiter and of Miss Harkness's brother is in that room," he said quietly, and nodded toward the closed door.

Dirk's expression was interested but incredulous. "And who is that?"

"A man they call the Fly."

"What makes you think he did it?"

"I'll go over the matter with you, step by step, whenever you have the time to give to it," Bowen answered. "For the moment, you can take my word for it that he is as guilty as hell."

"What do you plan to do?"

"We're just talking that over."

"If you've got anything on this man, the next step is a warrant, isn't it?"

"Why don't you have him arrested?" His voice was quiet and courteous; only the odd look in his eyes betrayed the animosity that inexplicably flared up between the two men.

"No," Bowen said firmly. "I've thought that all out, and it's wrong. I know something about law, too—the kind we get in police court, anyhow. It's too big a chance to take. This man has a record of slipping out of one legal knot after another. He'd have been hung ten years ago, when they sent him up the river, if he hadn't had a smart lawyer. If we can't make a case, and he goes free, we're through. We'd have to take it and like it. And I couldn't do it. It's—it's personal with me!"

He had grown pale and his breath came hard. Savage hate gleamed for an instant in his narrowed eyes.

"That man came within an inch of killing me!" he went on in a low voice, strained with emotion. "He did kill Miss Harkness's brother. I think he killed the woman, too, but that much I saw. He ran that kid down, and he did it because he damn well meant to! By George, I—I can't let that go!" There was a mist of tears in his eyes; he was too choked to speak. Mary was tremendously moved. She had never known a man to cry before. She had not dreamed he felt so deeply about it. By staring at her clasped hands intently she managed to wink away the tears that sprang into her own eyes.

She lifted pleading eyes to Dirk. Surely now, once and for all, he would see that his suspicions about Bowen were unfounded. Whatever else he might be, he was sincere in this, at least.

Dirk looked as if he were about to speak, but stopped. He turned and looked at the closed door of the private dining room.

"It would be suicide to go in there," Bowen warned him gently.

Thoughtfully, Dirk turned and he and Bowen looked glances for a minute. Then he reached into a pocket of his dinner jacket and drew out a long suede pouch which he transferred to a pocket of the topcoat which lay across the table in front of him. He laid his hand on it significantly.

"Don't let anything happen to that," he said, and got up.

Before Mary could stop him, he was walking casually toward the back of the room. She cried out, and half rose from her chair, but Bowen's vise-like grip on her arm held her down.

"Sit down!" he ordered. "He's all right."

* * *

There were two doors on the small corridor which ran along beside the walled-off kitchen. The first was the door into the private dining room. The second, farther back, was the men's washroom. Dirk turned the knob and walked into the first, then backed out as suddenly as he had entered. He looked about uncertainly for a minute, then went along the hall and entered the other. He was evidently presuming on the Fly and his companions thinking he had mistaken the door in looking for the washroom.

Even so, it was a risky thing to have thrust oneself unexpectedly into a gathering of that kind. He might have been shot first and apologized to afterwards. Mary realized this with a thrill of pride in his courage, even as she yearned to spank him for risking recognition and the chance of scaring off their prey by making the Fly suspicious that he was under scrutiny.

When he came back to the table, he disregarded Mary's scolding, and leveled his gaze at Bowen.

"What sort of looking chap is the Fly?"

"I've never seen him. The description I get from those who have makes him dark, tall, not bad looking. Looks like a Latin. Maybe he is. Did you see him?"

Horoscope

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1931

This is an uncertain day, according to astrology. Good and evil planetary aspects appear to conflict. It is a time for careful methods in business.

Merchants have the forecast of success through enterprise. Good luck is presaged for to-day, especially in retail transactions.

Great building projects will be pushed as the year closes in many American cities, and these will be significant as promises of tremendous business enterprises in the future.

Architects and contractors are subject to the best influences and should be active through the winter season.

If the stars are rightly read demand for houses will be widespread in the spring of 1932, especially in certain parts of the West.

Under this sway steamship companies should benefit, for there is a good sign for commerce and travel.

While this rule continues there may be an inclination to gossip. Warning is given that the carelessly spoken word may be peculiarly unfortunate at this time. Men even more than women may be tempted to indulge in criticisms of persons in private and public life. It is well to guard the tongue against idle speech.

It is a lucky day for "touching" parents or friends for a loan of money, and college students should benefit.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of much work and many changes. A long journey is indicated for certain men and women.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly bright. The subjects of this sign usually are very successful, for they know how to use their fine intelligence.

These who have celebrated it as a birthday include Andrew D. White, 1832, famous educator, and Paul Beaudry, 1828, famous painter.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Clever Trick

by HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily had found in the woods the lost cow lady who would not go back to the farmer to give him some milk for his supper. And unless the farmer had milk there would be none for Nurse Jane to make into a cabbage cake for Uncle Wiggily. This I told you in the story last night, and also about the rabbit and the cow talking together in the woods back of the farm and not far from the rabbit gentleman's bungalow.

"So you claim you aren't lost," Miss Cow?" asked Mr. Longears.

"I am not lost in any sense of the word," mooed the cow. As I told you I lost the clanging bell which for many years I have worn around my neck. That is I wore around my neck a strap to which the bell was fastened. I suppose, in the course of years, the strap did not wear out until yesterday, all of a sudden, it must have broken and the bell dropped off."

"Yes, that is very likely how it happened," agreed Mr. Longears. "And won't you go back to the farmer to give him milk, so he can give me milk, so Nurse Jane can make a cabbage cake, so I can eat it for my supper? Is that right?"

There it jingled merrily

"That is right," mooed the cow. "I would feel very much ashamed to go back without my bell that I have worn all these years. That's why I stayed hiding out in the woods all last night and to-day. I'm not going back until I get my bell."

"Then I'll help you look for it!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Where did you lose it?"

"If I could tell you that," said the cow with a laugh, "I would go right to that place and get my bell."

"Yes, I suppose that was a silly question," agreed Mr. Longears. "Let me ask you another."

"Is this one going to be silly, also?" asked the cow as she switched some flies off her back with her tail.

"No, this is a good question," spoke the rabbit. "Where were you standing in the woods when you first noticed that you had lost your bell. Answer me that if it isn't silly."

"No, that isn't silly," agreed the cow lady. "Well, I was standing right over there, and with one horn she pointed to a clump of white birch trees.

"Then that is the place to start looking for your lost bell," said the rabbit. "Come on."

"I hope we can find it!" murmured the cow, walking beside Mr. Longears. "I suppose it seems silly to think so much of an old cow bell, but I love its tinkle. And without it the farmer would not know where to look for me, to milk me, sometimes. Often I go deep into the woods and only by listening to the clang of my bell can the farmer find me."

"Will you go back to the farm if, I find your bell?" asked the rabbit.

"Oh, surely!" agreed the cow. "I want to give the farmer his milk and also give you some so Nurse Jane can make your cabbage cake."

"Well, then, let's start looking for the lost bell!" said the rabbit.

'le and the cow tramped around in the woods and bushes, but no cow bell could they find.

"Won't you go home without it," begged Uncle Wiggily, "and let the farmer buy you a new bell?"

"No," mooed the cow. "I will not."

"Please!" begged the bunny.

"No," mooed the cow.

Uncle Wiggily sat down on a flat stump and idly tossed stones into the bushes., All of a sudden one of the stones struck an old tin can, making a clanging, tinkling sound.

"Oh, I have a clever trick!" cried the rabbit, jumping up.

"What is the trick?" asked the cow.

"I will make you a bell from an old tin can," said Uncle Wiggily. "It will not be as fine a bell as you had, but it will make a noise."

"Can you make a bell from an old tin can?" asked the cow.

"Watch me!" cried the rabbit. He found the tin can his stone had struck. One end was open, one end was closed. From the middle of the closed end, inside, Uncle Wiggily hung a stone on a string, putting the string through a hole in the can's bottom. Then, making a loop of another string, and putting the two ends of the loop in holes in the side of the can, the clever rabbit made a sort of strap by which the tin can bell would be hung around the cow's neck. There it jingled merrily.

"Now I will go back to the farm and give milk!" mooed the cow, no longer ashamed. So through the woods she rambled and soon the farmer had plenty of milk and there was some for Uncle Wiggily's cabbage cake.

And if pop gun doesn't take the raisin out of the sugar cookie to use in tickling the apple pie, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's funny faces.

How to Choose a Domestic-minded Husband

Dorothy Dix

Gives Certain Signs That Point the Way

A WOMAN wants to know how she can tell on the safe side of the altar whether a man is domestic-minded, as the psychologists would say, or not. She says that she adored her home and did everything to make it beautiful and comfortable and attractive, but her husband took no interest in it. Never bought anything for it or noticed the rugs or chairs or anything. And she could not keep him in it. He used it merely as a parking place in between his philanderings. Consequently, she gave him the air and shut the door gently but firmly behind him.

Now she wants to marry again, mainly in order to have a home, and that necessitates having a husband, for a home without a man in it is as flat and tasteless as an egg without salt. But this time she wants to be sure of getting a house-broken husband who will be a fireside companion and regard his home as something more than a place in which to change his clothes and to come back to after the night clubs have shut up.

And she wants to know how she can tell whether a bachelor belongs to the species that can be tamed and taught to eat out of his wife's hand or whether he is one of the kind that will always revert to the wild as soon as the honeymoon is over and that no matrimonial bars will hold.

Alas, dear lady, this is a hard question to answer, for when it comes to prophesying beforehand what sort of husband a man will make, all signs fail. There are no infallible earmarks that show whether a man will be a roamer or a stay-at-home; whether he will be faithful or a skirt-chaser; whether he will be generous or a tightwad; whether he will be gallant and tender, or make one of the husbands who will consider that it is not worth while to show even common courtesy and politeness to a mere wife.

A woman cannot, for example, even tell whether she is getting a perfect lover or a human icicle when she marries. During the days of courtship the man will exhibit every indication of impassioned devotion. He will hang about her until he positively has to be thrown out of the house. He will swear that he cannot live without her and have fits of jealousy if she so much as looks at another man. He will feed her on soft talk and flatteries and cajoleries. He will load her down with gifts and inundate her with letters and telegrams if he has to be separated from her.

Naturally, the poor girl thinks that here is a safe bet, if there ever was one, and she marries the man feeling sure that she is going to feast upon sugar plums the balance of her life. But, to her amazement, her ardent lover cools off after marriage and his temperature goes down from fever heat to subnormal. He never mentions the state of his affection to her again. He never notices how she looks or what she wears or pays her a compliment, and when he gives her a kiss it is so cold and flabby it is an insult instead of a caress.

Maybe he still loves her. Probably he does and still thinks her the greatest woman in the world, but she has to be a mind-reader to find it out.

Nor can a woman tell before marriage whether a man will make a generous husband, or be such a tightwad that she has to use a jemmy to get even the housekeeping money out of him. Before marriage he may have lavished candy and flowers upon her and gratified her every wish and racked his brains to think of new places of amusement to take her.

But after marriage he not only never brings her ten cents' worth of candy or a wilted rose, or takes her to a movie without a family row, but he apparently begrudges her even the board and keep she earns by doing the work of cook and housemaid and nurse and general utility woman.

Neither can a woman put her faith in the old proverb that a good son makes a good husband, because some of the best sons make the worst husbands on earth. For a man can have the mother complex so badly and be so absorbed in doing his duty by his mother that he sacrifices his wife to his mother and fails to see that he has any duty toward the woman he has married.

Still and all, however, while for every rule for picking out the kind of husband you want there are a hundred exceptions, there are certain straws which show which way the winds of his temperament blow and, at least, give a woman some indication of what course he is likely to pursue after marriage.

So my advice to the woman who wants a husband who will help her make a happy home is to notice these points in a man:

First. Has he a sense of beauty? Does he love pretty things? Is he sensitive to artistic surroundings. Plenty of good men would just as soon live in a shack as a palace. All they ask of a house is that it be weatherproof. They never notice whether the curtains are clean or dirty and every time their wives buy a new piece of furniture they think it is an unwarranted extravagance. No woman can have any pleasure in making a home for that type of husband.

Then observe whether a man's idea of a pleasant evening is one spent in agreeable company or with a good book or in chasing around. If a man does not like to talk or to read and if he has no resources in himself, he will always be a gadder. He will always have to step out to find amusement and you can never nail him to his own fireside.

Finally, if you want a domestic husband, marry one who likes to eat. A dinner of just the things he likes, cooked just the way he likes them, will do more to draw a man homeward of an evening than a sense of duty, and after he has partaken of a full meal it is not the bright lights that attract him, but a good, comfy chair and his slippers and the domestic duet in which he will not have to exert himself to be brilliant or witty or wise.

Never pick out a thin, dyspeptic man or one who has no appetite, or one who does not know how to order a meal if you want a husband you can keep at home in the evenings.

And if, in addition, the man is a widower who has had a home and lost it and is sick and tired of restaurants and wandering around, grab him quickly. You have a cinch.

The World's Smallest Republic

To-day let me introduce you to the smallest republic in the world, a tiny country which is strange in more ways than one.

The name is San Marino.

San Marino is located in the midst of northern Italy. The Adriatic Sea may be viewed from this country, but there is no sea coast. All around is Italian soil.

When a count was made two years ago, the country was found to possess 13,013 persons.

A Glimpse of San Marino

San Marino has an area of thirty-two square miles. A good hiker might walk around the entire border within a single day.

The people of San Marino make their living chiefly by raising grapes, caring for cattle and exporting stone. Another "export" of the country is postage stamps. The stamps issued by the tiny republic are in great demand by collectors.

San Marino is in the midst of mountains, and its capital is a village located at and around Mt. Titano, more than 2,400 feet above sea level. Natives say that the village was founded about the year 350.

A "Great Council," made up of sixty members chosen by popular vote passes laws for the nation. Two regents, or presidents, are chosen from the Great Council, holding office for terms of only half a year.

The streets of the capital are narrow and crooked. They are also steeply sloping, and a person has a hard time finding a place where he can stand up straight. Only one small space in the village is level.

The water supply of San Marino village is composed of rain water kept in large cisterns. The sky opens to give the people a drink.

In 1921 a group of Italian Socialists fled from Italy into San Marino, hoping to be safe from capture. They were pursued and captured by Fascisti, however, despite protests by San Marino officials.

The people of San Marino contend that their country is not only the smallest republic in the world but also the oldest. This claim may be allowed if we date their independence from 1631—exactly 300 years ago—when they were recognized by Pope Urban VIII.

"DEAD" ACTOR COMES BACK

Ross Hamilton Back With Dumbells in Spite of Death Announcement a Year Ago

Apropos of the forthcoming engagement of The Dumbells at the Royal Victoria Theatre for three days commencing next Monday, it is interesting to note that Ross Hamilton, the celebrated "Marjorie" of The Dumbells, is one of the few fortunate individuals who through no trickery or effort of their own have been able to peruse their own obituaries.

A little over a year ago, a flash came through to Toronto saying that one R. Hamilton of that city was dead in Kalamazoo, Mich. Brief inquiries seemed to indicate that the dead man was an actor, and as Ross was the only famous Canadian actor answering to the name of Hamilton, the natural conclusion was that it was he. Photographs were hastily dug up and the Toronto papers carried full pages of his pictures together with columns of space recounting his fame.

Ross was on an ocean voyage at the time, and it was not until he reached Halifax ten days later that the report was emphatically denied. As usual, the denial was lost among the farm and country news, and even now, after all the publicity attendant upon his rejoining The Dumbells for their thirteenth annual tour, he meets many old friends in the various cities where the company is playing, who give him a first startled look as though they regarded him as a ghost.

"The Star Witness" Opening To-morrow

DOMINION THEATRE

Doris Kenyon, who plays the wife of Hamilton, in support of George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton," the Warner Bros.' production now at the Dominion Theatre, was educated in New York City and won fame in pictures before the days of talkies.

After the death of her husband, Milton Sills, she for a time retired from the entertainment world, devoting her time to her small son, Kenyon Sills, and to study. She has devoted much time to languages and the voice, and expects to go on the concert stage in time.

Miss Kenyon is five feet five inches tall, weighs 125 pounds and has blue eyes and blonde hair. She was born in Syracuse, N.Y.

Welsh Society's Concert To-night

The Victoria Welsh Society will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Sons of England Hall to-night at 8 o'clock.

A very attractive programme has been prepared and all members are requested to attend as special business is on the agenda.

The artists taking part are: Pianoforte solo, Helen Thomas; vocal duet, Mrs. W. C. Williams and Mrs. M. A. Lewis; dance, Ethel Gillis; solo, Dame Evans; recitation, Jackie Stidder; vocal solo, Arthur Jackman; Bowery dance, Beatrice Stromkins and Grace Hay; songs, Muriel Matheson; selections, Victoria male quartette; vocal solo, Dolly Rutledge; tenor solo, Pearson; recitation, Helen Bowden; duet, Mrs. J. McLennan and Celia Lewis.

Mr. Herbert Anscomb has kindly consented to open the society's annual bazaar, which will take place in the Sons of England Hall on December 4 at 3 o'clock. Any information many be obtained by telephoning the convener, Mrs. R. T. Williams, Willows Road.

Tickets Selling Well For Annual Police Function

More than 100 tickets have been sold already for the annual police ball and everything points to the function being one of the most successful ever held by the department, Sergt. Ben Acreman, chairman of the management committee, announced today.

Special attention will be paid to decorations for the occasion, and all other features which have established the reputation of the affair in former years will be attended to.

The ball will take place at the Empress Hotel on December 4 with a sixteen-piece orchestra in attendance.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Out of a cloud of dust, a young-looking bandit appears and holds up the stage coach. A girl is kidnapped and payroll stolen. She recognizes the thief as her sweetheart! What does he whisper to her as they ride through the canyon, what makes her forgive him as he goes off to the Bad Lands? The answer is given in "The Land of Missing Men" at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Claudette Colbert has her second secretarial role in "Secrets of a Secretary" now showing at the Capitol. Her first was in "Honor Among Lovers" in which she played the part of the amanuensis (and several other things) in the life of Frederic March, the big business man of the picture.

Her first talking screen part was that of the woman of mystery in "The Hole in the Wall" with Edward G. Robinson.

This was followed by the difficult part of the wealthy society girl in "Manslaughter" in which picture Fredric March, as the lawyer, sent her off to jail.

In "The Smiling Lieutenant" she was the violin-playing sweetheart of Maurice Chevalier.

COLISEUM THEATRE

Those who relish a hearty laugh, or rather a whole crowd of laughs, have a rare opportunity to gratify their taste in this week's star attraction at the Coliseum, "A Warm Corner." Based on the play of the same name, which had a prolonged run at the Prince's Theatre, London, and played by practically the same cast, it is one of those sparkling comedies which have recently lifted British pictures into the forefront of the "movies," and definitely established the position of the British studios.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Ken Maynard's wonderfully trained horse, "Tarzan," is one of the few beasts in Hollywood that rate a private car when they go on location.

Ken has had a trailer built that is the latest thing in horse transportation construction. It is fitted up like a stall for a thoroughbred racehorse and in it the animal is transported to and from locations.
